DEDICATION

I am happy to dedicate this book to my devoted husband, Neigel L. Scarborough, and my beautiful daughter, Sherri LeAnn Scarborough.

To Neigel, my partner in marriage and ministry. Without his love, support, agreement, and encouragement, this book would have never been published. When the battle with cancer was the fiercest, he kept reminding me of the principle: With every adversity come the seeds of fantastic future victories.

To Sherri who, though she is my daughter, is my best friend. Her fighting words during our crisis time were, "Mom, God has it all under control." I love her!

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

THIS WORK WAS originally written as a doctoral dissertation for Christian International School of Theology. Much research and personal experience went into its writing. It was as I was going through an anguishing struggle against breast cancer in 1990 that this work was birthed in my spirit. This manuscript is not, however, my work alone. I also credit the research of many men and women who are quoted throughout the book. I also credit the strengthening I received from so many people as I was going through the darkest night of the soul that I had ever experienced. I thank each one of them, and I praise God for:

The Christian International School of Theology team: John Webster, Steve Beltran, Bill Morford, and Bill Lackey, who advised, read what I wrote, gave me feedback, and contributed much inspiration;

Sharon Strong, a friend who is as close as a sister and who has always been there when I needed her with her consistent Christlike Spirit, smiling and encouraging me even as she was fighting and winning the same battle against breast cancer;

The 19 intercessors who drove from Detroit to Ann Arbor to the hospital to war for my healing the day I went through surgery, along with ministers Floyd and Winnie Carey and Wayne Chelette;

Betty Roy, Sue Randazzo, Debbie Abbott, Donna Sommerville, Dorothy Perteet, Blanche Weldon, Mary Humphries, Nancy Smith, and many others who met early in the morning every day and prayed for my complete healing;

The church we pastored, from 1986 through 1992—the Troy, Michigan, Cathedral of Praise family who were so caring;

The Women Alive intercessors from Detroit who gave me incredible strength with their encouragement, intercession, and love—Rosemary Wilson, Madelyn Dawkins, Nicole Hendrix, Michelle Hawkins, Dorothy Twymon, Barbara Yee, and others who kept a prayer cover over me;

Herman and Doreen Smith, who counseled me to keep teaching the healing message when the vicious attack of cancer came;

Harold and Marion Spellman, who dropped all their appointments and came to me to pray until I was safe, and the entire Peniel student body whose support I felt;

Norma Rayburn, who gave me constant support, and Sharon Maloney, who prayed for me months after the crisis was over that the cancer would never return;

Norvel Hayes, whose tapes were instrumental in my healing as I played them around the clock;

Linda and Sherrill Scarborough and Mike and Marcelle McCroskey, who encouraged me to war for my healing and then encouraged me to write this book;

Friends who were miles away from me and who prayed daily for me, including Irma Williams, Sandra Clements, Charles and Lois Beach, Euverla Hughes, Frank and Carol Catalano, Frank and Lou Tunstall;

Churches who interceded for me, such as Shekinah in Ann Arbor, pastored by Paul and Barbara Yoder, and Holy Ghost

Full Gospel Missionary Baptist Church, pastored by Corletta Harris Vaughan;

Our mothers, Mary Humphrey and Elzora Scarborough, who showed such love;

And the many others whom I appreciate deeply. Unfortunately time and space do not permit me to mention their contributions.

ENDORSEMENTS

Peggy Scarborough has spent hour upon hour researching and putting together material that will help people who are in need of some kind of miracle in their lives, particularly a healing miracle. Hosea says that people perish for lack of knowledge, and the author of this book is instructing people as to how to receive from the Lord Jesus Christ.

Having been healed of metastatic cancer of the liver, after being given only a few weeks to live in 1981, I can attest to the healing power of the Lord Jesus Christ. I owe my life to Him and am so grateful to be alive. Like Peggy, I am interested in helping people. I salute her for her efforts in helping multitudes of people.

Healing Through Spiritual Warfare is an inspiring account of one of my dearest friend's struggles for victory over breast cancer, a testimony of the tremendous healing she received, and a shining witness to the glory of God surrounding her life.

Christians must learn to do battle against sickness and disease. Peggy Scarborough declares, "God has a battle plan." From her own experiences as a warrior on the front lines of the combat zone, she has written this practical, scripturally based manual to instruct believers on how to wage war for their own healing by employing weapons of spiritual warfare.

This book is a powerful weapon—a tool in the hands of God to bring healing to those who will believe that "getting healed through warfare is worth the fight."

Healing Through Spiritual Warfare is a ringing call to battle for all who earnestly desire victory in their war for healing, and it is a challenge to any child of God who needs an answer to the question, "How can I be healed?"

FOREWORD

THE TRUTHS PRESENTED in this book will bless many people. Peggy Scarborough presents these biblical principles with a balanced theological discourse and adds a powerful reality of personal conviction and life experience.

As President of Christian International School of Theology, I have read numerous dissertations which have been submitted to CIST as final requirement to earn a graduate degree. Peggy has done an outstanding job of presenting the biblical truth of Healing Through Spiritual Warfare with a bibliography of documented confirmation which includes hundreds of Scriptures verifying this truth.

As an active prophet of God within the Church for the past 40 years and an author of three books on the prophetic, I can assure you that Peggy's presentation in her chapter on "warring with the weapon of the prophetic word" is biblically sound and true to the life experience of thousands of believers. Anyone ready with an open mind and a believing heart will be blessed, healed, and spiritually equipped to become an effective and mature soldier in the army of our Lord Jesus Christ.

Introduction

THE PROBLEM, THE ATTACK, AND THE SOLUTION

NOTHING IS MORE devastating than hearing the words, “You have cancer.” It is also a frightening experience to suddenly discover that you have sugar diabetes or some other life-threatening disease. When times such as these come, most people in the Body of Christ do not know what to do. When given such a diagnosis, many people listen to the doctor’s statistics and give up, often dying prematurely. When this happens to a family member or close friend, the reaction is usually to begin preparing for the loved one’s eventual death. This book has been prepared to provide an alternative response in such cases. Drawing from much research and personal experience, the author offers a biblically based prescription that will work.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO DIE PREMATURELY

The truth is, you don't have to die prematurely. The psalmist said, "I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord" (Ps. 118:17). This book deals with what people can do so that they may live and not die. It will also examine what we can do to get our loved ones healed.

SPIRITUAL WARFARE IS THE ANSWER TO SICKNESS

The central theme of this book concerns warring in order to get well. However, I found many during my research who did not like the idea of getting involved in spiritual warfare. They felt that they had come to Christ as a lamb, but now were being told they had to go to war. But whether we like it or not, the devil has already declared war on us. It is now up to us to learn how to fight.

God Himself is a warrior. The Bible says, "The Lord is a man of war: the Lord is His name" (Exod. 15:3). God, therefore, has a battle plan for His people. We can count on Him to teach us how to war if we are willing to learn.

An awakening about spiritual warfare is taking place in the earth today. God is raising up warriors to go into cities and nations to pray against prevailing principalities and powers. After days of intense prayer, many major strongholds have been broken. It is believed by many that the communist stronghold fell in Russia because of the intercessors who had been flying to Russia and standing in Red Square, pulling down the strongman over Russia through intercession. I personally took a large group of intercessors into downtown Detroit, into the very heart of the city, to pray for the city. The devil, however, launched a counterattack. I went through a vicious battle with breast cancer. Through this experience, I learned to war and won. It is God's will that we learn to war against sickness, just as we must against sin.

WE MUST LOCATE THE ENEMY

We must understand that our war is against satan. Men and women in the Air Force are given a book called Doctrines of War.¹ The introductory chapter states that the first principle of warfare is to know your enemy. As Christians begin to understand that overcoming sickness involves warfare, they will be better equipped to fight. Sickness comes from the devil. Jesus said, "The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I [Jesus] am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10). Jesus told Peter, "Satan hath desired to have you..." (Luke 22:31). This shows us who our enemy is.

When a person gets sick, satan taunts by saying, "There is no hope. No one ever gets healed from your disease, especially in the stage where you are. I've got you. I've got you. You're going to die." This is warfare!

SATAN IS THE ENEMY OF GOD

Satan hates humanity because he hates God and everything that is like God. When he attacks with sickness and disease, his finest weapons, his goal is to harm what God has made in His likeness. Every time satan hurts a Christian, he hurts the heart of God, because God loves His children so much.

SATAN IS THE ENEMY OF CHRISTIANS

Satan hates the bodies of those who are called to carry out the purposes of God. Every time he sees a human being looking and acting like God, his hatred is kindled afresh against humanity. Every time he sees a Christian, he is reminded of God, the object of his wrath. If he can attack the Christian's body, he can stop or hinder the work of God on the earth, for without a healthy body a Christian cannot live in the fullness God desires. If satan can attack a dedicated Christian's body, he can stop the attack against his kingdom. He can hinder or even stop the Christian from fulfilling the ministry God has called that Christian to do. Sometimes his attacks are counterattacks in retribution for some defeat he has experienced because of the warrior's ministry.

SICKNESS IS PART OF THE ENEMY'S WARFARE

C. Peter Wagner says, "Approximately 25 percent of Jesus' healings as recorded in the gospel of Mark involve demons."² The devil also uses the natural results of the fall of humanity to cause sickness. He uses bacteria, viruses, malnutrition, accidents, fights, poison, rapists, murderers, and so forth. Regardless of the cause, the outcome of sickness is pain, suffering, and even death, which are all the works of satan.

DEMONS WHOSE BUSINESS IS TO MAKE PEOPLE SICK

Satan has many demons whose chief business is to make people sick. When dealing with sickness, one must be aware of these various evil spirits. For instance, Benny Hinn maintains that three demonic spirits come along with cancer: the spirit of infirmity, the spirit of fear, and the spirit of bondage.³ Anyone who is attacked by cancer will have to battle and defeat these spirits. Many other sicknesses are caused by spirits and must be dealt with similarly.

GOD DOES NOT WILL SICKNESS

Sickness and disease do not come from God. This belief alone is one of the devil's chief tricks to deceive the Church. If it was God's will for a Christian to be sick, then the Christian should not go to the doctor. But the Bible declares that God is the Lord who heals you (see Exod. 15:26). He heals all who come to Him. God's plan is for Christians to be well.

LEARNING TO WAR FOR HEALING

The primary purpose of this book is to teach God's people how to war for healing. When attacked by the devil, a person does not have to die. Instead, he should declare war on the sickness. Though we may not like war, we must understand that even the Kingdom of God suffers violence. Jesus reminded us in Matthew 11:12 that from the time John the Baptist began preaching the Kingdom, the Kingdom suffered violence, and the violent took the Kingdom by force. From out of nowhere violence comes to assault God's people. There is a war going on, and we are involved in it. Ephesians 6:12 tells us that "we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers...." We wrestle against the rulers of the darkness of this world.

But our war is different. The warriors are not necessarily dressed in combat boots. Sometimes they are dressed in pretty dresses and high-heel shoes. Sometimes they are not physically strong. Sometimes they are young; sometimes they are old. But God's warriors can become mighty warriors.

We do not have the same weapons that the world has, yet the weapons of our warfare are mighty through God. We wage war in a different way. We wage war by prayer. We wage war by confession. We wage war by resistance. We wage war by singing. We wage war by forgiving our enemies. We wage war by practicing gentleness. We wage war by giving up hatred and bitterness. We wage war with the truth. We wage war by feeding the hungry. We wage war by speaking in tongues. We wage war by fasting. We wage war by surrendering our wills to God. We wage war by healing the sick and in many other ways that we will explore in this book.

Furthermore, we have a host of angels, a heavenly Air Force that fights for us. We are the ground troops. We confront the enemy on earth in the physical realm, while our angelic cohorts confront them from above in the spiritual realm. We do not fight alone. We fight where we are. Sometimes we fight in the marketplace. Sometimes we fight the enemy in our homes. Sometimes we do battle with him in the hospital. But our fight is fixed. Jesus has already won the battle. We just have to enforce it.

This book will discuss various methods that God will use to bring about healing. His goal is that the healed person would take the Gospel of healing to the world. Chapter One will deal with knowing what God thinks about healing. You will see God's will in the Old Testament, the New Testament, in the early Christian Church, and in the Church today.

Chapter Two will explore areas in the warrior's personal life that will bring healing. It will reveal areas in the sick person's life that will bring great spiritual strength. Subjects such as getting well as a priority, having the will to live, developing a fighting spirit, knowing your authority, a change in mentality, visualization, goal-setting, healing words, and dealing with fear will be discussed. Biblical nutrition will also be examined and the part it plays in the healing process. The associations the person desiring to be healed has will also be explored. The kind of conversation that brings about an atmosphere of healing will be discussed, along with the role of fasting, speaking in tongues, and laughter. In addition, the subject of watching what the Father is doing in healing will be examined.

Chapter Three will emphasize healing through three powerful weapons: the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus. These are the warheads that will bring destruction to the devil and release the power of healing in our bodies.

Chapter Four will examine God's battle plan for healing. The missiles that take the powerful warheads to their target will be thoroughly explored. God dwells in the praises of His people (see Ps. 22:3), and I know of numerous people who have been healed during a time of worship. Praise and worship will, therefore, be reviewed first. The other missiles that launch the warheads are prayer, confession, resistance, binding and loosing, preaching, testimony, breaking generational curses, and many more. This chapter will show how these missiles move the warheads to the point of attack and bring about healing.

Chapter Five will reveal how a person can be healed through warfare prophecy. This is another of the weapons, which due to its uniqueness, has an entire chapter dedicated to it. When one of God's prophets speaks concerning the healing of an individual, the sick person can war with that prophecy. This chapter will examine how a person can prophesy concerning his own healing. We can hear the voice of God for ourselves. Areas will be explored such as how a bad prophecy can be reversed and why some people die when it has been prophesied that they will live.

In Chapter Six, I share with you my personal battle with cancer, as well as other instances of healing. Chapter Seven is a review of the battle plan.

THERE ARE ADVERSARIES TO THE HEALING MESSAGE

There are many who feel strongly that healing should not be emphasized today. C. Peter Wagner, in his book How to Have a Healing Ministry in Any Church, tells of one scholar who was quoted anonymously in Christianity Today as criticizing John Wimber and C. Peter Wagner for teaching a course about signs and wonders at Fuller Theological Seminary. He criticized them for teaching a lottery-type Christianity in which there must be a few big winners—spectacular healings—and many $10 winners—cured headaches—in order to attract a crowd. His major objection was that such teaching is far from a proper theology of the cross.⁴

There are great difficulties that exist and many objections that may be raised against a theory of healing which differs from the accepted methods. There are those who argue that a study on warring for healing is not necessary. Satan, especially, will not like this study. The recommended way to deal with the enemy is to resist him. The Bible never says that the best way to handle the devil is to ignore him.

Also, there will be those who feel that the recommendations of this book are too difficult for a sick person to actually put into practice. The Air Force Promotion Fitness Examination Study Guide states: "The study of war is complicated because war is complicated."⁵ This is not a study for those looking for an easy road. Engaging in warfare is an arduous business, but the victory is well worth the fight.

The time is ripe to wipe out the deep pessimism which most Christians and ministers have about disease.

When a Christian is told that he has an incurable disease, this does not automatically mean he has to die. Christians do not have to accept as inevitable the many aggravating diseases that the devil puts upon them. This is the purpose of this book. I pray that it will be a tool in the hands of God to bring healing to many people.

Introduction

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- God Himself is a warrior.
- You must locate the enemy.
- The devil has declared war on you.
- Sickness is part of the enemy's warfare in the earth.
- Sickness and disease do not come from God.
- With cancer come three spirits: spirit of infirmity, spirit of fear, and spirit of bondage.
- There are special evil spirits whose assignment is to make people sick.
- You must declare war on sickness and disease.

PART ONE

THE WARRIOR'S
PREPARATION FOR BATTLE

Chapter One

KNOWING WHAT GOD THINKS ABOUT HEALING

GOD HAS A will concerning healing. The most important thing in spiritual warfare is knowing what God's will is. It makes little difference what other people say about healing. The question that must be asked is, "What did God say about it?" Before people can war for healing for themselves or for other people, they must be rid of all uncertainty concerning God's will in the matter.

Warring faith cannot go beyond our knowledge of what the revealed will of God is. We must know what the Scriptures plainly teach, that it is just as much God's will to heal the body as it is to heal the soul. Until we know what God's will is, there is nothing to base our warring or our faith on.

Praying for healing with the faith-destroying words, "If it be Thy will" is not warring. It is destroying the sick person. The prayer that will bring healing follows knowing the Word upon which alone faith is based. “Himself...bare our sicknesses” (Matt. 8:17) is just as much a part of the Gospel as His words, “Who His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree...” (1 Pet. 2:24).

HEALING AND SALVATION GO HAND IN HAND

Healing and salvation go hand in hand throughout Scripture. To say healed or to say saved means the same thing. The word saved in Romans 10:9 is the same Greek word used by Mark when he said, “...as many as touched Him were made whole” (Mark 6:56). Both words, saved and made whole, were translated from the Greek word sozo. T.L. Osborn tells us that each of the words found in the following Scriptures are translated from the same Greek word sozo: healed—Mark 5:23; saved—Mark 16:16; healed—Luke 8:36; saved—Acts 2:21; healed—Acts 14:9; saved—Ephesians 2:8; saved—Luke 18:42; saved—James 5:15; made whole—Mark 5:34; be whole—Mark 5:28; whole—Luke 17:19; whole—Acts 4:9; saved—Acts 4:12; made whole—Mark 6:56.¹

Healing is Heaven’s deposit for the glorified body, which we will receive in the future. The devil’s desire is to see us sick or dead, but Jesus came to bring us life—and that more abundantly.

WHAT THE GODHEAD SAYS ABOUT SICKNESS

God called sickness “captivity.” “The Lord turned the captivity of Job when he prayed for his friends...” (Job 42:10). Jesus called sickness “bondage”: “Ought not this woman, whom Satan has bound...be loosed from this bond...” (Luke 13:16). The Holy Spirit calls sickness “oppression”: “Jesus went about doing good and healing all that were oppressed of the devil...” (Acts 10:38).

There are many Scriptures in the Old Testament that show the attitude of God the Father toward sickness. The New Testament reveals the attitude and works of Jesus in bringing healing. We further see the numerous miracles and healings through the early Church. Today that same power continues through those who dare to be obedient to God's Word. We will now examine some of the many Scriptures concerning healing.

WHAT GOD SAYS IN THE OLD TESTAMENT ABOUT HEALING

God said:

...I am the Lord that healeth thee (Exodus 15:26).

...His [humanity's] days shall be one hundred and twenty years (Genesis 6:3).

...Thou shalt be buried in a good old age (Genesis 15:15).

Thou shalt come to thy grave in a full age like as a shock of corn cometh in in his season (Job 5:26).

...When I see the blood, I will pass over you and the plague shall not be upon you to destroy you... (Exodus 12:13).

...I will take sickness away from the midst of thee...and the number of thy days I will fulfill (Exodus 23:25-26).

...I will not put any of the evil diseases of Egypt...upon thee; but I will lay them upon all them that hate thee (Deuteronomy 7:15).

Therefore shall ye keep the commandments which I command you...I will prolong your days...that your days may be multiplied, and the days of your children...as the days of heaven upon the earth (Deuteronomy 11:8-9,21).

...The Lord thy God turned the curse into a blessing unto thee, because the Lord thy God loved thee (Deuteronomy 23:5; see also Nehemiah 13:2).

...As thy days, so shall thy strength be (Deuteronomy 33:25).

There failed not ought of any good thing which the Lord had spoken...All came to pass (Joshua 21:45).

...I have heard thy prayers, I have seen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee... (2 Kings 20:5).

...I have found a ransom. His flesh shall be fresher than a child's; he shall return to the days of his youth (Job 33:24-25).

O Lord, Thou hast brought up my soul from the grave; Thou hast kept me alive that I should not go down to the pit (Psalm 30:3).

The Lord will give strength to His people; and the Lord will bless His people with peace (Psalm 29:11).

The Lord will preserve him and keep him alive... (Psalm 41:2).

The Lord will strengthen him upon the bed of languishing; Thou wilt make all his bed in his sickness (Psalm 41:3).

The Problem, the Attack, and the Solution

...I shall yet praise Him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God (Psalm 43:5).

...Neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling (Psalm 91:10).

With long life I will satisfy him, and shew him My salvation (Psalm 91:16).

Who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases (Psalm 103:3).

He sent His word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions (Psalm 107:20).

I shall not die, but live, and declare the works of the Lord (Psalm 118:17).

He healeth the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds (Psalm 147:3).

...The years of thy life shall be many (Proverbs 4:10).

It [trusting Me] shall be health to thy navel and marrow to thy bones (Proverbs 3:8).

For they [My words] are life to all that find them, and health [medicine] to all their flesh (Proverbs 4:22).

...A good report maketh the bones fat (Proverbs 15:30).

Pleasant words are as an honeycomb, sweet to the soul and health to the bones (Proverbs 16:24).

...The joy of the Lord is your strength (Nehemiah 8:10).

A merry heart doeth good like a medicine... (Proverbs 17:22).

The eyes of them that see shall not be dim, and the ears of them that hear shall hearken (Isaiah 32:3).

The eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped (Isaiah 35:5).

Then shall the lame man leap as an hart [deer], and the tongue of the dumb sing... (Isaiah 35:6).

...So wilt Thou recover me, and make me to live (Isaiah 38:16).

He giveth power to the faint, and to them that have no might He increaseth strength (Isaiah 40:29).

...The Lord shall renew their strength... (Isaiah 40:31).

...I will strengthen thee; yea, I will help thee... (Isaiah 41:10).

...Even to your old age I am He; and even to hoar [gray] hairs I will carry you...even I will carry, and will deliver you (Isaiah 46:4).

He hath boren our griefs, and carried our sorrows... (Isaiah 53:4).

...With His stripes we are healed (Isaiah 53:5).

I have seen his ways, and will heal him... (Isaiah 57:18).

...I will heal him (Isaiah 57:19).

Then shall thy light break forth as the morning, and thy health shall spring forth speedily... (Isaiah 58:8).

I will restore health unto thee, and I will heal thee of thy wounds... (Jeremiah 30:17).

Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them, and will reveal unto them the abundance of peace and truth (Jeremiah 33:6).

I...will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick... (Ezekiel 34:16).

Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and ye shall live...and put breath [My Spirit] in you, and ye shall live (Ezekiel 37:5-6).

Withersoever the rivers shall come, shall live...they shall be healed; and every thing shall live whither the river cometh (Ezekiel 47:9).

When I passed by thee and saw thee polluted in thine own blood, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy blood, Live; yea, I said unto thee when thou wast in thy blood, Live (Ezekiel 16:6).

...Seek Me and ye shall live (Amos 5:4).

But unto you that fear My name shall the Son of righteousness arise with healing in His wings... (Malachi 4:2).

Come and let us return unto the Lord: ...and He will heal us...and He will bind us up (Hosea 6:1).

...Let the weak say, I am strong (Joel 3:10).

TYPES OF HEALING IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

The Passover Lamb

When the children of Israel were slaves in Egyptian bondage and remembered that they were children of promise, they cried out to God, and He sent them a deliverer. Through Moses, God sent ten horrible plagues upon Egypt, which finally persuaded Pharaoh to let God's people go. Before the tenth plague struck, Moses told the people to kill a lamb for every household and sprinkle its blood on their doorposts. They were then to roast and eat the lambs. The death angel passed through Egypt that night, killing all the firstborns of both people and animals.

But wherever the angel saw the blood sprinkled on the doorposts of an Israelite home, he passed over and spared their firstborn (see Exod. 12). That night, their faith in the blood of the lamb healed everybody who was sick and strengthened all who were weak.

According to the Bible, three million people were completely well at one time (see Ps. 105:37). These Israelites were slaves and had certainly been ill-fed and ill-treated. But God sent them the miracle of the slain lamb. What a beautiful picture of Jesus Christ, the Lamb of God, who heals and delivers us.

The Brazen Serpent

After the Israelites left Egypt, they failed to realize how great God had been to them, and got themselves into much trouble with God. Their continual complaining finally brought God's judgment upon them. Poisonous serpents began to bite them, and many were dying. Moses prayed for the people, and the Lord instructed him to make a serpent of brass. He was then to put it on a pole and lift it up where all who had been bitten could see it. As many as beheld it would be healed and would live (see Num. 21).

Jesus referred to this incident when He said:

And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life (John 3:14-15).

Both healing and forgiveness came through this type of the atonement. Thus healing and salvation both still come as we behold Jesus Christ, the crucified One. Both are still provided for us today.

The Cleansing of the Leper

Leviticus 14 and 15 contain the ordinances whereby the priests were to make atonement for the cleansing of the lepers. The types in these chapters show that it was invariably through atonement that sickness was healed. All of these typical atonements pointed to and prefigured Calvary. If the type brought healing, how much more will the real Christ heal?

The priest was to take two living clean birds, cedar wood, scarlet, and hyssop. He was to kill one of the birds in an earthen vessel over fresh, running water. He then was to take the living bird, the cedar wood, the scarlet material, and the hyssop, and dip them in the blood of the dead bird. The blood was then to be sprinkled on the leper seven times. Afterward, the priest was to pronounce the leper clean and let the living bird go into the open heavens.

The bird had been taken down from the open heavens and taken captive. This represents God's holy Dove, who of His own choosing came down from the realm of glory to humanity. He made Himself a captive dove. God gave Him a human body. He was not captive in a cage, but was captive because He was in a body of flesh, to be sacrificed for humankind. The bird that was slain had no choice, but God's Dove laid His life down of His own choosing to bring healing to humanity.

The bird had to be clean. Jesus was the clean, pure, perfect sacrifice. This was God's Dove, clothed in the holiness of God. Jesus took our sicknesses into His own body. Jesus did away with all the products of sin through His own body.

The cedarwood symbolizes the cross to which Jesus was bound. The scarlet thread represents the cord that tied Jesus to the cross. The running water represents the living Word of Jesus. He washes and cleanses us by His Word.

When the leper saw that blood-soaked bird fly away, he knew that he was home free. His leprosy was over.

The dead bird represents the death of Christ. The living bird represents the resurrection of Christ. The healed leper is symbolic of the one needing to be healed. It can happen because of the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ. The leper got healed based on the shadow or type. May God give us the revelation that we can be healed based on a better hope—the real sacrifice of Jesus Christ.

WHAT JESUS SAYS IN THE NEW TESTAMENT ABOUT HEALING

...I will; be thou clean... (Matthew 8:3).

...Himself took our infirmities and bare our sicknesses (Matthew 8:17).

...They that be whole need not a physician, but they that are sick (Matthew 9:12).

...I will come and heal him (Matthew 8:7).

...[He] was moved with compassion toward them, and He healed their sick (Matthew 14:14).

...[Jesus was] healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people (Matthew 4:23).

...According to your faith be it unto you (Matthew 9:29).

Jesus went about all the cities and villages, teaching in their synagogues and preaching the gospel of the Kingdom and healing every sickness and every disease among the people (Matthew 9:35).

He gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness and all manner of disease (Matthew 10:1; see also Luke 9:1).

...He healed them all (Matthew 12:15).

...Lest at any time they should see with their eyes and hear with their ears, and should understand with their heart, and should be converted, I should heal them (Matthew 13:15).

...As many as touched [Jesus] were made perfectly whole (Matthew 14:36).

It is not meet to take the children's bread [speaking of healing], and to cast it to dogs (Matthew 15:26).

...He hath done all things well: He maketh both the deaf to hear and the dumb to speak (Mark 7:37).

...Every plant which My heavenly Father hath not planted shall be rooted up (Matthew 15:13).

If two of you shall agree on earth as touching any thing that they shall ask, it shall be done for them by My Father which is in heaven (Matthew 18:19).

...If thou canst believe; all things are possible to him that believeth (Mark 9:23; see also Mark 11:23-24).

...They [believers] shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover (Mark 16:18).

The Spirit of the Lord...hath anointing Me to...heal the brokenhearted, to preach deliverance to the captives, and recovering of sight to the blind, to set at liberty them that are bruised (Luke 4:18; see also Isaiah 10:27; 61:1).

...[Jesus] healed them that had need of healing (Luke 9:11).

...[The disciples] went through the towns, preaching the gospel, and healing every where (Luke 9:6).

For the Son of man is not come to destroy men's lives, but to save them... (Luke 9:56).

Behold, I give unto you power...over all the power of the enemy: and nothing shall by any means hurt you (Luke 10:19).

Ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound...be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day? (Luke 13:16)

...The power of the Lord was present to heal them (Luke 5:17).

He sent them to preach the Kingdom of God, and to heal the sick (Luke 9:2).

Heal the sick that are therein, and say unto them, The kingdom of God is come nigh unto you (Luke 10:9).

In Him was life... (John 1:4).

The bread of life is He which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world. ...I am the bread of life (John 6:33,35).

...The words I speak unto you, they are Spirit, and they are life (John 6:63).

The Problem, the Attack, and the Solution

I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly (John 10:10).

I am the resurrection and the life... (John 11:25).

If ye shall ask any thing in My name, I will do it (John 14:14).

And His name through faith in His name has made this man strong [and] ...hath given him this perfect soundness... (Acts 3:16).

By stretching forth Thine hand to heal... (Acts 4:30).

...Jesus Christ, maketh thee whole... (Acts 9:34).

...[Jesus] went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil... (Acts 10:38).

God wrought special miracles by the hand of Paul; so that from his body were brought unto the sick handkerchiefs or aprons, and the diseases departed from them... (Acts 19:11-12).

The law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus has made me free from the law of sin and death (Romans 8:2).

If the same Spirit of Him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies... (Romans 8:11).

...Your bodies are the members of Christ... (1 Corinthians 6:15).

...Your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost...therefore glorify God in your body... (1 Corinthians 6:19-20).

For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body. For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep. For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged (1 Corinthians 11:29-31).

...To another [God has given] the gifts of healing by the same Spirit (1 Corinthians 12:9).

...So that the life also of Jesus might be manifest in our body (2 Corinthians 4:10).

Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that He will yet deliver us (2 Corinthians 1:10).

Far above all principality, and power, and might, and dominion, and every name that is named, not only in this world, but also in that which is to come: And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church (Ephesians 1:21-22).

That it may be well with thee, and thou mayest live long on the earth (Ephesians 6:3).

Who hath delivered us from the power of darkness... (Colossians 1:13).

The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work... (2 Timothy 4:18).

But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels for the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that He by the grace of God should taste death for every man...that through death He might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil; and deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage (Hebrews 2:9,14-15).

...Our bodies [are] washed with pure water (Hebrews 10:22; see also Ephesians 5:26).

The Problem, the Attack, and the Solution

Lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees...lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed (Hebrews 12:12-13).

Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever (Hebrews 13:8).

Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord: And the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up; and if he have committed sins, they shall be forgiven him. Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much (James 5:14-16).

...By His stripes ye were healed (1 Peter 2:24).

...His divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him... (2 Peter 1:3).

...Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely (Revelation 22:17).

Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth (3 John 2).

Christ used the same word to rebuke sickness and evil spirits. In his book Bodily Healing and the Atonement, Dr. T.J. McCrossan writes:

Christ always uses the same harsh Greek word, epitimao, to rebuke sickness as He used to rebuke evil spirits. In Luke 4:35 we read, "And Jesus rebuked (epetimésen) him (the evil spirit) saying hold thy peace and come out of him.” In Luke 4:39 we read, “and he stood over Simon’s wife’s mother, and rebuked (epetímésen, the same word as in Luke 4:35) the [spirit of] fever; and it left her.” Christ used the same harsh word to rebuke all sicknesses as he used to rebuke all evil spirits, because all sickness is caused by Satan.²

HEALING IN THE ATONEMENT

When Christ died, He died for our sicknesses as well as for our sins. McCrossan quotes Young, Leeser, and McLaren:

The same two verbs “borne” (nasa) and “carried” (sabal) of Isaiah 53:4—where we are told, “Christ bore our sicknesses and carried our pains”—are the very same two verbs used in Isaiah 53:11-12 to express the great truth that Christ bore vicariously our sins and our iniquities.³

This shows us through scholarly evidence that healing is definitely in the atonement.⁴

WHAT THE EARLY CHURCH THOUGHT ABOUT HEALING

After Jesus ascended, He continued His healing ministry through His disciples. McCrossan re-translates Peter’s explanation of the healing of the man who was born blind:

Peter says of this wonderful cure (Acts 3:16): “If we this day be examined of the good deed done to this sick man, by what means he has been cured (sesostai, saved); Be it known unto you all...that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified...even by him (touto, by this one) does this man stand here before you whole.” By here using touto, the dative case of the demonstrative pronoun houtos (the dative of instrument), Peter declares to us that this miracle was performed directly by the Lord, by the Spirit, just as all the miracles recorded in Matthew 8:16.⁵

McCrossan reminds us that Christ performed all the miracles after Pentecost by the Spirit. He says:

They prayed in Acts 4:28,30: “...Grant unto thy servants, that with all boldness they may speak thy word, by thyself stretching forth the hand of thyself for physical healing (eis iasin).” This is an exact literal translation, and clearly proves that Jesus Christ, the Lord, by the Spirit, continued to heal the sick after Pentecost.⁶

WHAT GOD IS SAYING TODAY ABOUT HEALING

God is no respecter of persons (see Acts 10:34), and He never changes (see Mal. 3:6). What He said in the Old and New Testaments He is saying today. Since the very same Holy Spirit who raised Christ from the dead and who did all the miracles of the disciples dwells in us today, we can expect this same Jesus to continue His miraculous work by this same Spirit.

Furthermore, many miracles have been witnessed in recent years, which show that God is still healing today. Examples of modern-day healings will be reviewed throughout this book.

Dr. McCrossan shows us the work of the Holy Spirit in manifesting the life of God (zoe) in our physical bodies. He translates Romans 8:11 this way:

But if the Spirit of Him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken (zoópoiései) your mortal bodies by His Spirit that dwelleth in you.⁷

McCrossan points out, “This verb ‘will quicken’ is zoópoiései and comes from zocé (life) and poiéó (I make).”⁸ It is the work of the Holy Spirit to keep making life in these mortal bodies of ours.

We have seen in this chapter what God thinks about healing. We have seen how Jesus went about healing all who were sick and oppressed of the devil. We have also seen how He continued His healing ministry through the early Church and is still carrying out His work today through His Body in the earth.

In the chapters that follow, we will examine His warriors and His weapons. God has a battle plan, and He will help us in the battle. Romans 8:26 reads:

Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought; but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.

According to Dr. McCrossan, the word translated “helpeth” means “take hold, together with, against.”⁹ Picture the Holy Spirit taking hold together with you against the power of the enemy. We do not war alone. He wars with us.

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- The most important thing in spiritual warfare is knowing what God's will is.
- Praying for healing with the faith-destroying words, "If it be Thy will" is not warring. It is destroying the sick person.
- Healing and salvation go hand in hand throughout Scripture.
- God called sickness captivity.
- Jesus called sickness bondage.
- The Holy Spirit called sickness oppression.
- When Christ died, He died for our sicknesses as well as for our sins.
- Healing is in the atonement.
- Jesus continues His healing ministry through His Body in the earth.

Chapter Two

THE WARRIOR'S LIFESTYLE

WHEN PEOPLE SUDDENLY learn that they have a serious illness, they will inevitably have to war through depression, denial, anger, and hurt. This can be draining to the physical body, as well as to the spirit and the soul. The purpose of this chapter is to show how to war in getting well and living to declare the works of God.

THE PRIORITY IS GETTING WELL

People who want to be healed must make getting well their top priority. Once they have chosen to live, their lifestyles may then need to be drastically altered. To make the needed changes will often involve a real spiritual fight. For example, these people may find ordinary conversation to be utterly meaningless. When table talk becomes empty, irrelevant conversation, the warriors may need to leave and get alone with God in prayer. They may need to encourage themselves in the Word.

This is not a time for mere talking; it is a time to war. With such a war going on, the person who has decided to fight for his life may appear at times to be out of touch. But the impending victory is worth the battle.

THE WILL TO LIVE

The starting point is the will to live. Dodie Osteen, who was diagnosed as having liver cancer, often says that you have to be feisty to get healed. Dr. Bernie Siegel refers to an article about cancer in a 1985 issue of Lancet, a British medical journal. He reports:

This study of fifty-seven women diagnosed with early breast cancer ten years before revealed that after the first five years, reoccurrence-free survival was significantly commoner among patients who reacted to cancer by a fighting spirit than among patients who responded with stoic acceptance or feelings of helplessness...After ten years, their survival statistics showed that 70 percent of the fighting spirit patients were still alive versus 50 percent of the deniers.¹

This principle of having a “fighting spirit” is a critical component of the sick person’s lifestyle. For anyone to help people get well or to pray the prayer of faith for them, the sick people themselves must have an intense desire to live.

STATE ALOUD THE PLAN TO GET WELL

It is important for sick people to state aloud their plan to live and get well. When Terry Law was given the prognosis that his sugar diabetes was incurable, he told the doctors, “I will get well.”² He later explained that he felt it was important for him to establish immediately his intention to live. Today he is a healed man with a great ministry.

Sick people need to hear themselves say that they are going to get well. Other people need to hear them say it. The devil also needs to hear the words, "I will get well."

KNOWING YOUR AUTHORITY

Jesus gave His followers authority. Those who intend to war for their healing must know their authority and must surround themselves with people who know their authority. They must see that in Christ they are possessors of Christ's authority. We are what He is. We are in Him. Christ lives in us.

Too many Christians do not believe enough concerning their spiritual authority. The devil has deceived them into thinking they are nobodies with no power to stop him from anything he is doing. In his book The Saints at War, Frank Hammond states, "Before we enter the arena of conquest against the devil...we must know who we are in Christ and know the spiritual power and authority invested in us by Christ."³ The reason we have authority over the devil is because we are already seated with Christ on His throne.

This will be one of the most difficult battles for sick people to win. When doctors give them bad reports, it can be devastating to their faith. Then, when they read the statistics of the survival rate, that is enough to throw them completely into depression. When they are then told that they have authority over their sickness, it may be difficult for them to exercise their authority, the enemy having made them believe that they are not in control of their own lives. This is especially the case when the disease is cancer or some other life-threatening disease. But such people absolutely must thoroughly understand their authority if they are to have confidence in getting well.

CHANGE IN MENTALITY

Many sincere Christians become overwhelmed with shame and condemnation when they get sick. This is because they feel that God must be displeased with them or they have sinned. Joyce Boisseau in You Can Live in Divine Health argues:

Realistically, sickness is on the earth. It affects the righteous, the holy, the innocent, the young, the old, the mother, the father, the president, the pope, the kings and princes, the rich and the poor, the high and the lowly, the beast, the fowl, and the fish, the soil, the air and the water. The earth is cursed with sickness... And all of us who are of the earth are subjected to that curse, regardless of our spirituality.⁴

In order to war effectively, people must grasp that it is not a shame to be sick. When Job's comforters come with the question, "What have you done to cause this?" the best answer is, "I am simply under attack from the enemy."

Sick people must understand where the battle is coming from and why. Possibly the enemy sees in them the seeds of some unique ministries, and he is trying to kill it before it is birthed.

Sick people must not get it into their minds that God is chastening them. A Scripture that is often used to justify sickness as chastening is this: "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth..." (Heb. 12:6). T.L. Osborn argues:

This Scripture does not say: "whom the Lord loves He makes sick, or smites with disease." It does not say

“God imparts disease to or makes infirm every child whom he receives.”⁵

He continues:

The word “chasten” comes from a Greek word which means “instruct, train, discipline, teach or educate” like a teacher instructs a pupil or like a parent teaches and trains a child. When a teacher instructs, various means of discipline and training may be employed in the education process, but never sickness.⁶

He further maintains:

Satan will constantly condemn you by bringing to your mind every mistake you have ever made, offering his lying suggestion: That is why you are sick...Your God is chastening you...and there is no hope for you...Your adversary, the devil, therefore succeeds in causing you to blame God, the Healer of sickness, for the very sickness Satan has put upon you.⁷

God has the Word and the Holy Spirit to instruct His children, not cancer or arthritis or some other disease.

KNOWING THAT GOD HAS NO FAVORITES; HE HEALS ALL

Sick people must understand that everyone can be healed. Jesus healed all who came to Him. T.L. Osborn in Healing the Sick says:

Until you are fully convinced that God wants you to be well, there will always be a doubt in your mind as to whether or not you will be healed. As long as there is that doubt in your mind, perfect faith cannot exist; and until faith is exercised, without doubt or wavering, you may never be healed.⁸

Until it becomes clear to sick people that it is God's will to heal all, they will always wonder if they are one of the unlucky ones who God may not be wanting to heal.

It is easy to believe that God can heal, but when people are sick, it is also easy to wonder if God will actually heal them. E.W. Kenyon said, "It was a great comfort to my heart when I realized that the Father has no favorites...Everyone has the same rights in the family."⁹ Kenyon further argues that, "Because God laid your sickness on Jesus and made Him sick with your diseases, Satan has no right to put on you what God put on Jesus."¹⁰ He translates Romans 6:14: "For sin shall not Lord it over you."¹¹

When God brought the children of Israel out of their bondage in Egypt, He held a gigantic healing crusade. He announced Himself to be the healer of His people with these words: "...I am the Lord that healeth thee" (Exod. 15:26). He spoke these words to all three million people who had been in Egypt. The Bible says that when God brought them forth, there was not one feeble person among their tribes (see Ps. 105:37). God is bound by His covenant to continue healing all who are sick and weak. He must do this to fulfill His words: "My covenant will I not break, nor alter the thing that is gone out of My lips" (Ps. 89:34). If God had changed His mind concerning healing, He would have told us.

It is not necessary to try to explain away why some people are not healed. In her book Balm of Gilead, Lillian Yeoman writes:

How much precious time I wasted trying to explain Mrs. So and So's case. But one day I got desperate and said, "I don't care if every saint on earth dies of this disease, the Word of God promises me healing and I take it, and I have it."¹²

She went on to say, "I have had it ever since."¹³ This must become the attitude of everyone who wars for healing.

SEEING YOURSELF WELL

It is essential that sick people see themselves as being well, since people usually live out their mental images, whether it be sickness or health. Charles Capps recalled an article entitled "Patient Knows Best," which appeared in the August 1991 issue of Reader's Digest.¹⁴

A person's answer to the question, "Is your health excellent, good, fair or poor?" is a remarkable predictor of who will live or die over the next four years according to new findings.

A study of more than 2800 men and women 65 and older found that those who rate their health poor are four to five times more likely to die in the next four years than those who rate their health excellent. This was the case even if examinations show the respondents to be in comparable health.

These findings are supported by a review of five other large studies, totaling 23,000 people, which reached similar conclusions, according to Ellen Idler, a sociologist at Rutgers University, and epidemiologist Stanislaw Kasl of Yale University School of Medicine, co-authors of the new study.

People whose image of themselves is one of being in poor health will talk about their poor health, whether imagined or actual. Even though they may begin in good health, they will eventually live out the image they have of themselves, even unto death.

CALLING THINGS THAT BE NOT AS THOUGH THEY WERE

There is probably no subject as important to healing and health as the principle of calling things that are not as though they were. God called Abram the father of nations before Sarah ever gave birth to the promised child, and He taught Abram to do the same thing. Abraham had to call it into reality by mixing faith with God's word.

While Abram and his wife were waiting for this child, God told Abram to count the stars at night or the sand in the daytime. Benny Hinn says, "If you start counting negatives, you will get negatives. If you see multitudes, you get multitudes. You must see it. Without seeing it, you will never get it."¹⁵ In other words, sick people must not see themselves as being sick, but must see themselves as being well. The Bible records in Romans 4:17-22 that Abraham was fully persuaded that God would do what He had promised. The way he became fully persuaded was by calling those things which were not yet manifested as though they already were.

FAITH VISUALIZATION IS BIBLICAL

Some Christians are afraid of visualization, but faith visualization is biblical. It is calling those things that be not as though they were. Abraham didn't look at the impossibilities; he looked at God and received the promise. Visualization is simply a human process of focusing our attention and building our faith. Jesus made clay with His saliva and placed it on the eyes of the blind man before he was healed. The blind man could feel the clay on his eyes, and this encouraged his faith. Christ was simply helping the man to have more faith. Velmer Gardner suggests, "As hands are laid upon you for healing, let your faith arise and touch God until you can see by faith that in reality it is the hands of Jesus upon you."¹⁶

Benny Hinn admonishes:

Speak faith images to your sickness. If you are in a wheel chair, see yourself out of it. If you have cancer, see yourself free of it. Consider not the things around you.¹⁷

If people have cancer, they must realize that the cancer cell is a weak, confused cell.¹⁸ Sick people should picture their bodies' own white blood cells going into the area where the cancer is and destroying it. White blood cells are strong and aggressive.¹⁹ They should picture the cancer shrinking until it is gone. They must see themselves as being well, free of disease, and full of energy.

PICTURING THE DISEASE ON JESUS

Sick people may get well by simply picturing Jesus on the cross with their disease. Francis Hunter asks:

Can you imagine all of the cerebral palsy from the first man to the last man on the body of Jesus? See Him with all the cancer in the world from the first man to the last man...Can you imagine all the brain damage in the world on Him? Can you see all the crippling diseases on Him? Millions of all kinds of diseases, all on Jesus at one time...When we begin to see our disease back on Jesus..., healing will become a reality in our lives...If you do not receive healing the first time you think you see your disease on Jesus, keep trying. Keep seeing your disease back on Jesus!²⁰

SEE YOURSELF DOING WHAT YOU WOULD BE DOING IF YOU WERE WELL

Sick people must see themselves doing what they would do if they were well. In The Healing Light, Agnes Sanford tells of praying for a little boy with a leaky heart.²¹ The child's heart got better, but not completely well. The child knew all about God, which frustrated Mrs. Sanford because she had had great results before in praying for children with heart problems. She realized that the child needed her to teach him how to make his knowledge of God work for the healing of his heart.

She suggested to him, "Let's play a pretend game. Pretend you're a big guy going to high school, and you are on the football squad. Shut your eyes and see yourself holding the ball and running ahead of all the other fellows. Hear them say, 'Look at that guy!' The other kids will say, 'Just look at him run! Boy he's strong! I bet he's got a strong heart.' Then you say, 'Thank you, God, because that's the way it's going to be.'" She said, "Play it every night right after your prayers." Mrs. Sanford reported that a month later when she saw the child, the doctors had given him the report that his heart was perfect.

THINKING OF THE PART OF THE BODY THAT NEEDS TO BE HEALED

Sick people must also think of the part of the body that needs to be healed. Agnes Sanford writes, "See it well and perfect and shining with God's light and then give thanks that this is being accomplished."²² She suggests that when people find themselves thinking, One of my headaches is coming on, they should correct that thought with the words, "Whose headache?" They should say, "God's light shines within me, and God doesn't have headaches." Then they should rejoice in the Lord and give thanks.

When people begin thinking, I am getting the flu, they must see their nose and throat and chest filling with God's light. If there are any germs there, they must see them as being destroyed immediately. Then they should rejoice saying, "I give thanks, Oh Lord, for Thy life within me, recreating all immune passages in perfect health."²³

Mrs. Sanford also has some suggestions for those who are so weak they do not have the strength to get up and work.²⁴ She reminds us that God's strength is made perfect in our weakness. For example, Mrs. Sanford tells of a lady who was in great pain and had an incurable disease. The woman said, "The pain is great, but God said get up and work." She took one step and then rested. She began to peel potatoes and said, "I am peeling this potato in the strength of almighty God. I can't exhaust His strength, because He is inexhaustible. So I will get this potato peeled and for that, oh Lord, I do thank you." Then she rested, and then she did another. The woman recovered.

SEEING THE TREATMENT AIDING HEALING

In their book Getting Well Again, the Simontons offer suggestions to those who must receive special treatments for their disease. They suggest that if people are receiving radiation treatments, they should picture it as being a beam made up of millions of bullets of energy hitting any cells in its path.

The normal cells are able to repair any damage that is done, but the cancerous cells cannot because they are weak...If you are receiving chemotherapy, picture that drug coming into your body and entering the blood-stream. Picture the drug acting like a poison. The normal cells are intelligent and strong and don't take up the poison so readily. But the cancer cell is a weak cell so it takes very little to kill it. It absorbs the poison, dies, and is flushed out of your body.²⁵

They then suggest:

Picture your body's own white blood cells coming into the area where the cancer is, recognizing the abnormal cells, and destroying them. There is a vast army of white blood cells. They are very strong and aggressive. They are also very smart. There is no contest between them and the cancer cells; they will win the battle.²⁶

They also suggest:

Picture the cancer shrinking. See the dead cells being carried away by the white blood cells and being flushed from your body through the liver and kidneys and eliminated in the urine and stool.²⁷

For those experiencing pain in the body, they suggest:

Picture the army of white blood cells flowing into that area and soothing the pain. Whatever the problem, give your body the command to heal itself. Visualize your body becoming well. Imagine yourself well, free of disease, full of energy.²⁸

BIBLICAL VISUALIZATION WILL WORK FOR ALL DISEASES

The same processes that work for cancer will work for other diseases. The Simontons remind us that for any disease, you can “picture your body’s natural defenses and natural processes eliminating the source of the ailment or pain.”²⁹ When I used this type of visualization, I usually saw the disease on Jesus in the background while I was visualizing the other scenes.

GUIDELINE FOR VISUALIZATION

Francis Hunter warns:

This is a spiritual and supernatural dimension that can be most rewarding; however, do not visualize something that you can’t line up with God’s word. Line it up with God’s word and watch it come to pass.³⁰

Then, what you see is what you get.

GOAL SETTING

Goal setting is a must. Carl and Stephanie Simonton, in their book Getting Well Again, write:

On receiving a cancer diagnosis, there is a tendency to begin living life tentatively and conditionally. Frequently people withdraw from relationships or refuse to make commitments.³¹

This establishes the negative expectancy of death rather than healing. The Simontons say, “Goals are important in getting well and in maintaining a high quality of life...The will to live is strengthened.”³² Sick people should set some short-term as well as some long-term goals. Goal setting prepares people both emotionally and spiritually to act out their commitment to regaining their health. By setting goals, they are saying that they expect to recover. Setting goals affirms that God and the one who is sick are once again in charge of the person’s life rather than satan and sickness.

For some, asking the question, “What do I want out of life?” is a very difficult question. After a crisis illness, people should decide what they want to be doing in a week, a month, a year, five years, ten years. Ask questions such as, “What do I want to do today that makes it worth getting out of bed for? What do I want to have accomplished in five years that makes it worth the effort?” These are the questions that will make the difference in whether you live or die.

Warriors should set goals in every area of life. They should set physical goals for their health. They should set spiritual goals. They should set family goals. They should set goals concerning their church and community. Every area of life at this particular time needs goals.

Make goals specific and measurable. Set a time period on them. Write them down. If you would like to learn to play the piano, write down the plan for doing this. Write down the day on which you will contact a teacher, and schedule lesson time and practice time. Instead of saying, “I want to be more loving,” schedule time on your calendar to spend with family members or friends. If you wish to write a book, outline your plan for doing it. Do not depend on others. Focus on what you can do rather than what others will do. Assume responsibility for your own actions.

Write out two one-month goals, two three-month goals, two six-month goals, two one-year goals, and two five-year goals. Don’t let anything stop you!

DEALING WITH NEGATIVE PEOPLE

Staying away from negative people is essential for a person who is warring to be healed. Norvel Hayes warns, "Friends and relatives can kill a person who is trying to get well."³³ Pat Hayes, who had cancer several times and was healed, urges, "Don't ever leave a loved one who needs a miracle in the hands of someone who is full of doubt and unbelief."³⁴ Whenever her husband was leaving her for any long length of time, he made sure there were two women there who would stand over her bedside quoting the Word of God and commanding health into her body. She further said, "If it takes not allowing relatives and friends in the room, do it."³⁵

It often becomes necessary to tune out best friends who feel compelled to tell about someone they knew who died of the disease. The sick person must learn to tune this out and disregard such information. When I was fighting for my life, I once found in my mailbox a large envelope filled with literature sent to my family. When I opened it, I discovered that a well-intentioned group had sent several booklets on how a family copes when the mother dies of breast cancer. I learned not to be dissuaded by such attacks.

THE IMPORTANCE OF WORDS

Sick people must not speak idle words. Pat Hayes says, "If you want to be healed, you must get your tongue straightened out."³⁶ People who are sick must be careful not to annul their faith by wrong conversation. T.L. Osborn says:

You cannot talk sickness and disease and walk in health. You cannot talk about disease and pains, complaining about your troubles and obtaining everybody's sympathy and be healed.³⁷

Charles Capps says:

I am convinced from my study of the word of God that your own words can change your immune system for better or worse. The words you speak are vital to your health and well being. I believe there are some diseases that will never be cured unless people learn to speak the language of health that the body understands.³⁸

This subject will be discussed in greater detail in Chapter Four.

DEALING WITH FEAR

When people are weak and sick, fear often overwhelms them. Satan will torment them with the doctor's words, "You have only a few weeks to live...a few weeks to live...a few weeks to live." He uses pain and then says, "You're going to die," or "You will be buried in that dress." Fear can cause people's minds to become subjective. John G. Lake said:

When you are full of fear, your pores will absorb everything around you. You are drawing into yourself what is around you. That is the way people absorb disease.³⁹

When a person has cancer, the terrors by night become real. Dodie Osteen expressed it this way:

The devil bombarded my mind with every kind of fear imaginable, especially when everybody was asleep and I lay awake hurting. Pain—intense, unbearable pain—came against my body, most of it demonic, just to try my faith. I fought so hard in the middle of the night! That is when the devil's thoughts would play on my mind...I felt like I had battle fatigue.⁴⁰

This is a normal reaction for people who have been told about a life-threatening disease. Women who have gone through breast cancer and surgery have told the writer of horrible nightmares such as demons chasing them. But the psalmist said, "Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night..." (Ps. 91:5).

Doctors' reports must be dealt with. To continue hearing all the possible things that could happen is to live in fear. Sick people must tune out the pessimistic prognoses of the doctors and tune into the Word of God. When asked what the doctors are reporting, it is better to answer with what the Lord is reporting.

ATTACKING FEAR WITH AUTHORITY

Sick people must learn to treat sickness as the thing that it is: something from hell that is trying to attach itself to them. They must resist it. Norvel Hayes says:

When you get up in the morning and that cancer tries to attack, say "No, you don't, no you don't, no you don't, cancer. I told you last night you are dead. In Jesus name, I said stop. Jesus is healing me now." You must treat sickness like a mad dog and kick it out of your house. Do not pamper sickness. Treat it like a devil.⁴¹

He continues, "Talk to that mountain sickness. Take authority over it. Say, 'In Jesus name come out. Go from me. I command my body to be normal.' Do it every day."⁴²

THE WARRIOR'S NUTRITION

Of vital importance is the warrior's eating habits, and the Bible has a great deal to say about that subject. We could live a longer, healthier, and happier life if we ate the healing foods described in the Bible, which is one of the earliest sources for knowledge about good health. Carlson Wade states in Bible Healing Foods: “As a diet reference book, the Bible is probably the most valuable volume in the world today.”⁴³ He says, “They saw how youthfulness could be extended through a diet based mainly on fruits, vegetables, and grains.”⁴⁴

WHOLEGRAIN BREAD

The Bible even gives a recipe for nutritious bread. “Come home with me, and eat bread,” says the prophet of Bethel in First Kings 13:15. In Bible days they ate the kind of wholegrain bread that we know today to be a good source of fiber and nutrition. Ezekiel 4:9 gives this recipe: wheat, barley, beans, lentiles, millet, and fitches. Most health food stores carry “Ezekiel bread,” which has this statement on the wrapper:

Combining grains with legumes creates a complete protein that more closely resembles that in meat, milk or eggs. Sprouting makes this protein easier for the body to use.⁴⁵

It further states:

The protein quality found in this bread is so that it is 84.3 percent as efficient as the highest recognized source of protein, containing all eight of the essential amino acids.⁴⁶

GOD’S INSTRUCTIONS CONCERNING MEAT

The advisability of eating beans and peas as an alternative to meat is emphasized in Daniel 1:12. Even modern science has recognized that these high-fiber foods can be lifesavers and advises us to keep them in our diets.

Concerning what meats we should or shouldn't eat, God gave clear instruction. He told Moses and Aaron that it was permissible to eat meat only if it came from an animal that chewed its cud, was cloven-footed, and parted its hoof (see Lev. 11:1-3). Wade says:

This category includes cattle, sheep and lambs. Swine were taboo because they did not meet these requirements, were carriers of parasites, and sources of unhealthy animal fats.⁴⁷

Today, nutritionists by and large agree with the biblical view that everyone is better off cutting down on their consumption of red meat and replacing it with poultry, seafood, and vegetable sources of protein. In several places the writers of the Bible also recommended the people of God reduce their intake of fat (see Lev. 3:17; 7:23; Isa. 66:3).

The ancient Israelites only ate fish that had fins and scales (see Lev. 11:9-12). All other seafood, such as shellfish, were taboo. Wade says, "These species were scavengers, ingesting pollution near the shoreline, and they could carry infectious diseases."⁴⁸ Wade further says, "Popular seafoods in Biblical times included mackerel, salmon, bluefish, mullet, trout, sablefish, shad, butterfish, and pompano."⁴⁹

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

God put fruits and vegetables on the earth for the health of His people. He even took care of the Israelites in Egypt. While there, they ate such immune-boosting, cholesterol-melting foods as cucumbers, melons, onions, and garlic (see Num. 11:5).

The high-protein and high-fiber fare of Jacob's pottage was another source of strength (see Gen. 25:29-34). It consisted of red lentils and onions with garlic and some grains.

Dr. Bernie Siegel reports that of all his cancer patients, the ones who are vegetarians have the longest survival rates.⁵⁰ The reason for this is that the foods we put in our bodies determine the health of every cell and organ. In his book Reversing Heart Disease, Dr. Julian Whitaker states:

Every major killer disease of Americans—heart disease, cancer, high blood pressure, diabetes—is increased by excessive amounts of meat and animal protein, and decreased when animal protein foods are replaced with vegetable foods.⁵¹

THE POWER OF JUICING

Jay Kordich, in his book The Juiceman's Power of Juicing, says:

The human body needs live food to build live cells. By live foods I mean uncooked fruits and vegetables. Other foods, such as nuts, grains, seeds, and legumes are live foods too. All come directly from the soil and are not first processed by another animal, as are meat, poultry, and fish. For this reason, I consider them live—and full of life.⁵²

Kordich recommends that to get the most benefit from fruits and vegetables, we should juice them. He says:

One cup of carrot juice contains the equivalent nutrition of four cups of raw, chopped carrots. Juice contains about 95% of the food value of the fruit or the vegetable. Made fresh and consumed on the spot, juice instantly releases nourishment to the body through the blood stream. In the process, the body receives the necessary vitamin and mineral nutrients.⁵³

Incorporating juice into people's lives does much for them. Kordich maintains:

The abundance of live, uncooked foods flushes your body of toxins, leaving you feeling refreshed, energized, and relaxed all at the same time. The pure foods make your skin glow, your hair shine, your breath fresh, and your entire system so regulated you will not have to give it another thought.⁵⁴

The Juiceman also recommends juicing for serious ailments. Concerning cancer he writes:

Fruits and vegetables with high concentrations of beta carotene may help prevent certain types of cancer. These include apricots and cantaloupe in the fruit category; carrots, broccoli, sweet potatoes, and leafy greens as the main vegetables. Cruciferous vegetables such as cauliflower and cabbage can also be protective against many cancers.⁵⁵

For heart disease, Kordich recommends pure orange juice because it strengthens the blood vessels and capillaries.⁵⁶ He also recommends juices with beets in them and juices containing green juice. For prostate problems, he recommends cranberry juice as well as watermelon juice.⁵⁷ I personally recommend that any person who is dealing with serious health problems get a juicer and a good juice recipe book.

In his book A Cancer Therapy, Dr. Max Gerson, one of the preeminent geniuses in medical history, gave a recipe for green juice that has helped many cancer patients. He suggests procuring as many of these kinds of leaves as possible and juicing them: “lettuce, red cabbage, beet tops, Swiss chard, escarole, endives, romaine, green pepper, watercress. Add one medium apple for each glass.”⁵⁸ For salads Gerson recommends the following raw fruits and vegetables: apples and carrots, lettuce, chicory, watercress, tomatoes, escarole, cauliflower, romaine, radishes, scallions, endives, celery, chives, and green peppers.⁵⁹

Dark green vegetables are especially good for the body. Dr. Yoshihide Hagiwara says, “The creative power of dark green leaves has always been the nutrient source of life and well-being for the human body.”⁶⁰ Dr. Hagiwara researched all the green leaves and decided that green barley was the most powerful of all of them for aiding in the healing of the human body. He claims that the miracle of green barley is that it fosters the one true healing miracle, the body’s ability to cure itself.⁶¹

HONEY RECOMMENDED IN THE BIBLE

In Proverbs 24:13, Solomon advises: “My son, eat thou honey, because it is good....” Honey was said to keep one mentally keen and provide physical strength. Moses ate honey in the fields. The Promised Land was called a land of “milk and honey.” Today, many nutritionists suggest that we use honey as a sweetener rather than sugar.

SPEAKING IN TONGUES

Speaking in tongues is another highly powerful method of healing for the warrior. Paul said, “He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself” (1 Cor. 14:4a). John Sherrill wrote, “The thing that happens is just what Paul said would happen: I am built up, am given joy, courage, peace, the sense of God's presence."⁶² Sometimes sick people are too weak to pray. That is when they can say, "Holy Spirit, You pray for me." Francis McNutt, a former Catholic priest, said:

Those who pray in tongues, when they are not sure precisely what to pray for, turn the prayer over to the Spirit, believing that...the Spirit can express our plea in a way that we could never put into words.⁶³

He testifies:

Often when I have been pressed for time, with a crowd waiting for prayer and no chance to speak to each one, I have simply gone from one person to another, laying my hands on their heads or shoulders, praying in tongues about 30 seconds for each person...In this way many have been healed.⁶⁴

THE HEALING POWER OF LAUGHTER

"A major factor in staying healthy is staying happy," says Dr. Patrick Quillin in Healing Nutrients.⁶⁵ A great incentive to being joyful and happy is found in Proverbs 17:22: "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine...." Norman Cousins was stricken with an incurable disease and laughed himself to health.⁶⁶ This is an important ingredient in the process of getting well again.

THE NECESSITY OF FORGIVENESS

Some people do not get healed because they refuse to forgive a person who has wounded them. When warring for healing, sick people must not hold on to any feelings of bitterness or anger. The stakes are too high. Even though they may feel that their feelings are justified, they may not get healed until they forgive the people who have wronged them. Agnes Sanford suggests:

Let us see in our minds the picture of Jesus Christ and then see the other person, placing the picture of the one we would forgive upon the picture of Christ. Having done this, we say to the one whom we would learn to like, "I forgive you in the name of Jesus Christ, and I give thanks to God because you are now forgiven. Amen." And we remember that "amen" means "so be it," and is therefore a command sent forth in the name of Christ.⁶⁷

She further exhorts:

Having once accomplished a forgiveness...we must never question it, lest we stop the work that He is doing through us. Having said, "I give thanks that so and so is forgiven," we must keep on giving thanks that this is so. We must trust the actual working of God through us, and must not be misled by our own unruly feelings.⁶⁸

Forgiveness must be received from God and given to others.

THE POWER OF FASTING

So often we cry out, "O God, raise up men and women who can lay hands on the sick and they will recover." But we quickly end our prayers because we are hungry and everyone must eat before the meal gets cold. The practice of fasting while praying has been lost. The enemy has kept us from fasting because he does not want us to have the increased power we receive from fasting.

In Matthew 17:14-21, we read about a man who had brought his demon-possessed son to the Lord. He had previously brought him to the disciples, but they could not help the boy or his father. When Jesus rebuked the devil, he departed and the child was cured. The disciples asked, "Why could we not do that?" Jesus' answer was this: "This kind goeth not out but by prayer and fasting" (Matt. 17:21). Only those who are willing to learn how to effectively pray and fast and seek the face of God will experience the power of God manifested in this way. Fasting gets results.

In addition, fasting is good for our health because it cleanses the body. Jay Kordich says:

My body works hard twenty-four hours a day, six days a week; I view fasting as its day off. During this day the body cleanses, purifies, and essentially resurrects itself. During the fast, the system flushes out the liver, kidneys, and bladder and eliminates toxins.⁶⁹

WATCHING WHAT JESUS IS DOING

Today's Christian is called to do greater works than Jesus did (see John 14:12). The secret of Christ's miraculous ministry was His intimate relationship with His Father. He acted only on what He saw the Father doing (see John 5:17-21). He did nothing on His own initiative. We, too, can work the works of God and do these "greater works" if we will only discover the relationship Jesus had with the Father. John Wimber says:

The ability to hear what God is saying, to see what God is doing, and to move in the realm of the miraculous comes as an individual develops the same intimacy with and dependence upon the Father.⁷⁰

Anyone who will watch what God is doing can work the miraculous and bring healing and good health to the sick. After

T.L. Osborne came home from India utterly defeated, he went to a meeting conducted by William Branham, which became the turning point in his life and ministry. He wrote:

As I watched Brother Branham minister to the sick, I was especially captivated by the deliverance of a little deaf-mute girl over whom he had prayed this: "Thou deaf and dumb spirit, I adjure thee in Jesus' name, leave the child." When he snapped his fingers, the girl heard and spoke perfectly. When I witnessed this there seemed to be a thousand voices speaking to me at once all in one accord saying over and over, "You can do that."⁷¹

Powerfully influenced by what he saw and strengthened by a visitation from Jesus, Osborne began to minister, ultimately traveling all around the world with his wife, Daisy, and bringing healing to thousands. We, too, can do that.

We understand that people who are warring for healing are God's main weapons of warfare. In Jeremiah 51:20, God tells us, "Thou art My battle axe and weapons of war: for with thee will I break in pieces the nations, and with thee will I destroy kingdoms." Though you may have been attacked with some disease, this can be a time of tremendous spiritual growth. Not only will you be healed, but you will bring healing to a world that is under attack by the devil. We declare war on sickness. Devil, back off. We are God's property!

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- The very lifestyle of warriors is a weapon.
- The priority of sick people must be getting well.
- You may have to be feisty to get healed.
- State aloud your plan to live and declare the works of God.
- Sick people must understand where and why the battle is coming.
- You must not get it into your mind that God is chastening you.
- God has the Word and the Holy Spirit to instruct His children, not sickness.
- Know your authority and surround yourself with people who know their authority.
- Satan has no right to put on you what God put on Jesus.
- God has no favorites.
- See yourself well.
- Call those things that be not as though they were.

- Set goals for one month, two months, three months, six months, one year, five years.
- Don't leave a loved one who needs a miracle in the hands of someone who is full of doubt and unbelief.
- Get your tongue straightened out.
- Speak the language of health.
- Your words can change your immune system.
- FEAR is False Evidence Appearing Real.
- The body needs live foods to build live cells.
- A merry heart doeth good like a medicine.
- We war by forgiving.
- Fasting gets results.
- Those who will watch what God is doing can work the miraculous and bring health and healing to the sick.

PART TWO

THE BATTLE PLAN

Chapter Three

THE MIGHTY WARHEADS: THE WORD, THE NAME, AND THE BLOOD

“FOR THE WEAPONS of our warfare are...mighty through God to the pulling down of strongholds” (2 Cor. 10:4). Sickness is a stronghold. Symptoms become strongholds. If we focus our spiritual eyes on symptoms, we can be overcome by the power they exert. But we have weapons that will pull down these strongholds.

There are three powerful weapons God has given to every believer. They are the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus. These are the warheads. Terry Law says, “The power for explosion, the power for destruction, is in the warhead.”¹ The key is to get them to the point of attack. This means we must have missiles to carry each warhead to its target. Terry Law refers to them as rockets, saying:

If we were to launch a rocket that did not carry a warhead, it would create a minor explosion when it hit the ground. However, if that rocket carried a warhead, it would obliterate an entire city and much of the surrounding countryside. The power for destruction is in the warhead and not in the rocket.²

The missiles that propel our powerful spiritual warheads are praise, worship, prayer, confession, resistance, binding and loosing, preaching, testimony, and breaking generational curses. Let's first discuss the warheads; in the next chapter we will examine the missiles.

THE WORD OF GOD

It is impossible to overemphasize the power of God's Word in the life of a believer. Christ is the living Word of God; the Bible is the written Word of God. Psalm 107:20 says, "He sent His word, and healed them, and delivered them from their destructions."

THE BIBLE IS A SUPERNATURAL BOOK

The Word of God is a supernatural book. God guarantees to provide healing through His Word. If He has sent His Word to heal, then His Word will heal. T.L. and Daisy Osborne have preached in countries around the world, laid hands upon the sick, and seen many great miracles of healing. But T.L. Osborn writes, "Among the tens of thousands who have been miraculously healed by the Lord, most of them were healed while meditating on the Bible."³ Many have even been miraculously healed by placing the Bible under their pillows at night.

THE WORD IS CREATIVE

God's Word is just as effective today, just as powerful, and just as creative as when the worlds were framed by the Word of God. Ezekiel 12:25 says, "I am the Lord: I will speak, and the word that I shall speak shall come to pass...." Matthew 24:35 declares, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." Romans 4:21 declares, "...What He had promised, He was able also to perform." Luke 1:37 says, "For with God nothing shall be impossible." Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today, and forever (see Heb. 13:8). He has not changed, and His Word has not changed. His Word is just as up-to-date as the morning newspaper.

THE WORD CAN BE DEPENDED UPON

Regardless of our circumstances, we can depend on the Word of God. God watches over His Word to see that not one word fails. "I will hasten [stand behind or back up] My word to perform it" (Jer. 1:12b). Job said, "I know that my Redeemer liveth" (Job 19:25a). He made this statement while afflicted with leprosy. His flesh was rotting off. Though he didn't feel well, he knew that he could believe God's Word. Lillian Yeoman said:

Give me knowledge every time and away with what I feel. I don't care what I feel when I know...that He is my redeemer and that He liveth; and because He lives, I live and shall live forever. I live this moment. My redeemer liveth and is doing His work—redeeming me. From what? From the curse of broken law which includes every disease that flesh is heir to. What remains but praise?⁴

THE WORD PRODUCES THE PROMISE

T.L. Osborne says, "The creative power of God's word will create the very thing in your body that you need in order to be well and strong.”⁵ When believed and acted upon, any promise of God is transformed into the power of God. Osborn maintains, “Every promise of God contains the power necessary to produce what it promises, when it is believed and acted upon.”⁶

THE WORD IS POWERFUL WHEN FED UPON

Hebrews 4:12 says, “For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any twoedged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit....” The key to partaking of the healing life and energy in the Word is feeding on it until it penetrates into your spirit. There it will deposit its healing life and energy.

FAITH IS BUILT ON THE WORD OF GOD

Real faith is built on the Word of God. Paul wrote, “Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God” (Rom. 10:17). The Word of God is actually God speaking to us. It is God-breathed, God-inspired, and God-indwelt. Kenneth Hagin advises, “Wrap yourself up in it.”⁷ Use it! Matthew 15:13 became a rhema to me during my crisis with cancer: “Every plant, which My heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.” A rhema is a Spirit-inspired word from the written logos that brings life, power, and faith to perform and fulfill it. It is a personal word from the Bible. This Scripture became that to me.

THE WORD MUST BE PERSONAL

The Word of God must become personal. Kenneth Hagin says, “If God’s Word says it’s true, then it’s true. It is mine, and I have it now. I have it now even though I can't see it because God cannot lie.”⁸

THE WORD IS MORE POWERFUL THAN PRAYERS OF OTHER PEOPLE

The Word is more powerful than the prayers of other people. When people get themselves into agreement with God through His Word, they can expect miracles. Many people rush from one meeting to another, hoping that some well-known person will pray the prayer of faith for them. But if they would simply get into the Word of God, healing would become a reality. The reason some do not keep their healing is because their faith is grounded in the prayers of other people rather than the Word of God.

GIVING ATTENTION TO GOD'S WORD BRINGS HEALING

Giving complete attention to God's Word brings the miracle of healing. Proverbs 4:20-22 says:

My son, attend to my words; incline thine ear unto my sayings. Let them not depart from thine eyes; keep them in the midst of thine heart. For they are life unto those that find them, and health to all their flesh.

Sick people must attend to the Word more carefully than they would attend to a child.

Incline thine ear. Listen to the Word of God. John Osteen said, “Faith cometh by hearing and hearing and hearing.”⁹ One of the most successful ways of getting the Word into one's spirit is to listen to tapes of healing Scriptures all night long.

Let them not depart from your eyes. Read the Words of healing over and over. People who are sick should not let a day go by without reading the healing Scriptures God has given. Hagin says:

Many people fail because they allow the Word of God to depart from before their eyes. Instead of seeing themselves as God's word says they are, they keep looking at the wrong things—at the conditions, at the symptoms, at themselves—and so they walk in unbelief and destroy the effects of their faith.¹⁰

Keep them in the midst of your heart. Memorize the healing Scriptures. Find the Scriptures that fit your case; mark them in the Bible; go to surgery with the references written on your hand; claim them. Norvel Hayes declares, "It doesn't take many Scriptures to get your healing. One Scripture verse can bring your healing miracle."¹¹ Find those verses that are a rhema to you.

THE WORD BECOMES HEALTH TO SICK FLESH

The Word will actually become life to the sick person. The Word of God can keep you from dying when it looks like all hope is gone. It will become health to all your flesh—cancerous flesh, arthritic flesh, heart attack flesh, diabetic flesh.

THE WORD IS MEDICINE

The Hebrew word translated health in Proverbs 4:22 means medicine. In other words, God's Word is medicine to all our flesh. There are several parallels between God's medicine and natural medicine. God's Word is a healing agent just as natural medicine is a healing agent or catalyst to healing. The medicine itself contains the capacity to produce healing. God's Word contains inherent within it the capacity, the energy, the ability, the nature to affect healing in your body.

The Word is literally a painkiller. Solomon declares, "A bundle of myrrh is my well-beloved unto me; He shall sleep all night betwixt my breasts" (Song 1:13). Myrrh is an analgesic, which in the Old Testament times was given to sick people to kill the pain. When Jesus was being crucified, He was offered myrrh to kill the pain, but refused because He did not want to die without pain. The Bible is our painkiller. The Song of Solomon refers to Jesus (the living Word) as myrrh. The written Word will be our painkiller if we will receive it.

Medicine is no respecter of persons. However, medicine is to be taken no matter how you feel. The Word of God is likewise truth no matter how you feel.

Medicine must be taken according to directions to be effective. Some medicine is to be taken internally. It would not help to rub it on the body. To take it several times a week when the directions say three times a day will produce only limited results. It has to be taken according to directions. So it is with God's medicine. The directions are found in Proverbs 4:20-21. We must attend to the Word; we must give careful attention to it. We must put everything else out of our minds and concentrate all our faculties on the Word.

Medicine takes time to work. People do not take one dose and expect immediate results. They are patient with it. We must do the same with the Word.

The Word of God must be acted upon; it must be obeyed. In the Word Bible Helps, Kenneth Hagin tells of his being bedfast at the age of 15. He was almost completely paralyzed. Five doctors were called in on his case, and they all agreed that there was absolutely no hope for him. As far as medical science knew, no one in his condition had ever lived past the age of 16. But he loved God and fought death with every fiber of his being. While he was in bed, he read the Word constantly. He had attempted to act on the Word, but still did not receive his healing. On the second Tuesday of August, 1934, after being sick for 16 months, he prayed:

Dear Lord Jesus, when you were here on earth, you said in Mark 11:24, "What things soever ye desire, when ye pray, believe that ye receive them, and ye shall have them." Dear Lord Jesus, I desire to be healed. You said, "when you pray." I have prayed. Dear Lord Jesus, if you stood here by my bedside in the flesh and if you were to say, son, the trouble with you is you're not believing, I would have to reply to you, Dear Lord Jesus, you are lying about it—I do believe.

God spoke to him deep within. "Yes, you believe all right—as far as you know—but the last clause of this verse of Scripture is, believe that ye receive them and ye shall have them." Then Hagin saw it. It was just as if someone had turned a light on inside of him. He cried:

Dear Lord Jesus, I see it! I see it! I have to believe I receive my healing. I have to believe I receive healing for my heart while my heart is still not beating right. I receive healing for my paralysis even though I am paralyzed from a natural standpoint. If I believe I receive healing, then I have it.

He said, "I had wanted to receive my healing first, and then believe it." After receiving this revelation of God's Word, he began to praise the Lord, "Thank You, God, I am healed."

Then God spoke and said, "But well people don't have any business in bed. They need to be up." Hagin said:

I didn't look any better, and I didn't feel any better. Physically, I had no feeling from my waist down. I was still partially paralyzed having only about two-thirds use of the upper part of my body. But I pushed myself to a sitting position and pulled my knees up against my chest. Then I made an effort to twist my body and pushed my feet off the bed. I grabbed hold of the bedpost at the foot of the bed and pulled myself off the bed.

My feet fell on the floor like chunks of wood. Although I couldn't feel them, I could see them down there on the floor.

Thoughts began to penetrate his mind as fast as machine gun bullets: You can't walk. You're not healed. You're going to fall right on the floor, and you'll just have to lie there. He held on to the bedpost and lifted one hand a little and said:

Thank God, I'm healed. I want to declare it in the presence of almighty God, the Lord Jesus Christ, the angels in Heaven and in the presence of the devil and evil spirits, that the Word of God is true, and I believe I am healed. I believe it.

He said the room seemed to be spinning. He shut his eyes and said again, "Thank God, according to the Word, I am healed." Then he felt a warm glow dropping on his head. He said:

It seemed to flow down over me as if a jar of warm honey had been poured over my head. It ran down my whole body. When it reached my waist, feeling began to return to the lower part of my body. At first the pain was excruciating, but when you haven't had any feelings at all for so long, it even feels good to hurt. Then I felt normal. The paralysis was gone.

He said, "I'm going to walk now," and he did. It took some time to build his muscles back up from so many months of inactivity, but he started walking that day.¹²

We can see from the foregoing study that the Word of God must abide within sick people concerning their healing. We have a covenant with God that includes divine healing. Hosea said, "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge..." (Hos. 4:6). Christians have allowed disease to kill them while God's Word has been saying, "...By whose [Jesus'] stripes ye are healed" (1 Pet. 2:24). Christians are helpless in the face of satan and disease without the Word of God living in them. The seed of the Word concerning healing must be planted in warriors so that they can successfully reap the healing harvest.

We see then that people must act on the Word. After reading the Word, you act on it while you can still see the swelling, feel the pain, and are conscious of the symptoms. Believe what God said right then in the face of all contrary sense knowledge. Act on the Word and stand solidly. The symptoms cry out, "You are not healed." The Word of God, which cannot lie, says that by His stripes you are healed. Stand with the Word of God. Agree with it. Read the Word, talk the Word, confess the Word, and the Word will become a very part of you.

THE NAME OF JESUS

Jesus promised, "And whatsoever ye shall ask in My name, that will I do..." (John 14:13a). "...Whatsoever ye shall ask the Father in My name, He will give it you" (John 16:23). According to these Scriptures, we have the right to ask the Father for healing in the name of Jesus.

THERE IS POWER IN THE NAME

Philippians 2:9-10 says:

God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a name which is above every name: that at the name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven [angels], and things in earth [people], and things under the earth [demons].”

Beings in all three worlds bow at the name of Jesus. That name holds dominion over satan and his entire kingdom. That name holds power over sickness and disease. All that Jesus was, His name is. That name has lost none of its power.

JESUS GAVE US THE POWER OF ATTORNEY

Jesus gave His followers the legal right to use His name. All the power and all the authority that was in Jesus in the flesh is now available to us in His name. He gave His name to the Church. Jesus defeated the devil and all of hell and stands before the three worlds—Heaven, earth, and hell—as the undisputed victor over humanity’s ancient destroyer. Here is a model for how we ought to pray:

Father, Jesus is there at your right hand and has given us the power of attorney to carry out Your will on earth. So here is my sickness. I ask you in His name to heal it.

It’s up to us to enforce this authority in our lives. Sick Christians have authority to speak directly to their sickness and say, “Sickness, I resist you. In the name of Jesus Christ, leave my body.” They do not have to wait for God to do it. God gave us the power of attorney to do it in His name.

THE EARLY CHURCH USED THE NAME OF JESUS TO HEAL

The early Church knew what they had—and they used it. Peter and John said to the crippled man, “Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee: In the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth rise up and walk” (Acts 3:6). The man immediately rose up and walked. Paul said to a demon, “I command you in the name of Jesus Christ to come out of her” (Acts 16:18). The woman was restored that very hour.

THAT NAME WILL BRING HEALING TODAY

Smith Wigglesworth tells of six men ministering to a man who was dying from tuberculosis. They had prayed and nothing had happened. One of the six said, “There is one thing we did not try. Let us go back in and whisper the name of Jesus.” While standing beside the bed, they did nothing but repeat the name of Jesus over and over. The presence of God began to fill the room and healing flowed into that dying man’s body. He immediately arose, perfectly whole.¹³

Another outstanding example of the power of the name of Jesus occurred when Pat Hayes was in a coma and saw four death angels coming to get her. She said:

They were armored from head to toe. Their armor did not have a dent. They looked so shiny. They looked perfect in every way. But the moment I saw them, I knew they were not warring angels. But I recognized that they were four spirits of death coming to take me. When I began to see them, I thought, “Lord, what am I going to do?” The still small voice spoke to me and said, “Just use my name!” I began to speak

His name, not two times, not screaming it. I spoke it one time. To the first death angel, I said, "In the name of Jesus." The moment that I spoke that name, the brightest, the purest, the holiest light moved over and took the place of that demon. I said it again to the second, the third, the fourth. I knew then I was home free. The battle was won. Victory was mine. I was taken off the life support the next day.¹⁴

Let us understand that every Christian has the legal right to use the name of Jesus for healing. E.W. Kenyon says:

The weakest son has a legal right now to all the grace, and might, and power, and blessing, and health, and healing, and life enwrapped in the Person Who bore that Name.¹⁵

All that Jesus was, His name is and will be. That name has not lost its power and is available today. E.W. Kenyon summarizes for us:

Healing is ours, the Name makes it available to us. That Name is ours, and in that Name is all health. Do not try; do not struggle—just use it! Use it like you use your check-book. The money is on deposit. Healing is on deposit.¹⁶

THE BLOOD OF JESUS

By the blood of the passover lamb, God put a difference between the Egyptians and the Hebrews (see Exod. 11:7). Just before the children of Israel left Egypt, God said to Moses:

Speak to all the congregation of Israel, saying...take to them every man a lamb...[and]...kill it...[and] take the blood, and strike it on the two side posts and on the upper door post of the houses...[and] eat the flesh [of the lamb]...it is the Lord's passover (Exodus 12:3-11).

And God said, “...When I see the blood, I will pass over you...” (Exod. 12:13). The blood of the lamb was their sure defense. It is likewise our sure defense today.

THE ISRAELITES WERE TO EAT THE LAMB'S FLESH

The Israelites were to eat the lamb's flesh, appropriating physical strength for their journey. T.L. Osborn reminds us:

The body of the lamb slain in Egypt, when eaten, became part of each Israelite. It became flesh of their flesh, bone of their bones, skin of their skin, body of their bodies. It was a type of the body of Jesus, who was to be slain for the world...¹⁷

THE BLOOD FROM THE STRIPES OF JESUS BOUGHT OUR HEALING

Our sins and sicknesses were bought with the precious blood of Jesus. The stripes Jesus received brought forth much blood, which was being shed for our healing. T.J. McCrossan translates First Peter 2:24 this way: “Who by His own self bare our sins in His own body on the tree...by whose stripes (molopi, bruise) ye were healed.”¹⁸ He also translates Isaiah 53:5 in the Septuagint (the Greek version of the Old Testament), this way:

But He was wounded on account of our sins and was bruised because of our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon Him; and by His bruise (to molopi autou, by the bruise of Him) we are healed.¹⁹

McCrossan notes that Isaiah and Peter use the singular word bruise or stripe (molopi) and not bruises or stripes.²⁰ He further maintains:

The word molops means the mark of a blow or a bruise... The use of the dative singular here, molopi tells us, as clearly as language can express it, that our dear Savior's back had been so terribly scourged that no one blow could possibly be distinguished from the other. Every spot on His back was so bruised and lacerated that it was just like one great bruise...The Jews had a law that no person should be given more than 40 stripes when flogged, but the Romans had no such law, so they often scourged their victim until he bled to death.²¹

McCrossan continues to describe the scourging:

He was beaten at the pleasure of the soldiers, with the knots of rope, or plaited leathern thongs, armed at the ends with acorn shaped drops of lead, or small sharp pointed bones. In many cases not only was the back of the person scourged cut open in all directions, but even the eyes, the face, and the breast were torn, and teeth not seldom knocked out...²²

McCrossan quotes Eusebius, the early church historian, as he describes a Roman scourging of some martyrs:

All around were horrified to see them so torn with the scourges that their very veins were laid bare, and the inner muscles and sinews, and even their very bowels were exposed.²³

On Christ's poor, bruised back they then laid the heavy cross (see John 9:17). McCrossan feels that much of Christ's blood was shed while receiving that awful bruise for our physical healing, the rest being reserved for our sins on the cross.²⁴

For some people, simply meditating on the scourging of Jesus brings healing. Some plead or declare that blood and receive their healing.

COMMUNION CAN BE A MEANS OF HEALING

There were two things the children of Israel were to do. They were to apply the blood of the lamb and eat of the lamb's body. The death angel would then pass over them on his way to slay the firstborn of every family of the Egyptians. The blood was a type of our identification by faith with the blood of Jesus, our Lamb. "Being now justified by His blood, we shall be saved from wrath through Him" (Rom. 5:9). We partake of that same body of Christ, in type, each time we partake of the bread in the communion service. The Israelites ate the lamb's body, and when they began their journey the next day, their sicknesses vanished and their infirmities disappeared. They were physically strong and whole. God was not only their deliverer from the death angel, but also the healer of their diseases. This was a type of the body of Jesus.

During the communion service we take the bread, hold it in our hand, then eat it as a token of the body of our Lamb. Too often in churches around the world we take the cup of wine and remember the blood of Jesus which was shed for our salvation while forgetting the body that was broken for our diseases.

Because the church has not properly discerned the Lord's body, many are sick among us. Osborn says:

When I eat the bread, I rejoice in the fact that my sick, weak body has been changed; that it has become bone of His bone, flesh of His flesh, and body of His body; that the life of Christ has been made manifest in my mortal flesh, that sickness no longer has power over me; that I am healed. In this way, I discern the Lord's body.²⁵

Osborn further advises:

Discern the body as having been beaten and lacerated with stripes—stripes by which your sicknesses were borne and you were healed—and health will be yours.²⁶

WE ARE OVERCOMERS BY THE BLOOD

The Bible says that the endtime believers overcome the devil by the blood of the Lamb and by the word of their testimony (see Rev. 12:11). Terry Law explains, "They testified to what the Word said that the Blood did for them."²⁷ Notice that satan accuses us before God day and night. But the Bible says we can overcome him by the blood of the Lamb. God wants us to take authority, and He has provided us with an effective means for doing this. When the enemy tells believers that they are going to die of a disease, the declaration of the blood can bring healing.

THE MISSILES

The Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the precious blood of Jesus are the spiritual weapons of our warfare. However, there are missiles that transport these warheads to the place where they can destroy the power of the enemy against sick people. We will examine these missiles in the next chapter.

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- The power for healing is in the warheads—the Word, the Name, and the Blood.
- The Word of God is a supernatural book.
- God’s Word in you is one of the most powerful weapons in the world.
- The Word of God is sharper than any two-edged sword.
- “The creative power of God’s Word will create the very thing in your body that you need to be well and strong” (Osborn).
- “Every promise of God contains the power necessary to produce what it promises when it is believed and acted upon” (Osborn).
- The Word of God is more powerful than the prayers of other people.
- When people get into agreement with God through His Word, they can expect miracles.
- Faith comes by hearing and hearing and hearing.
- Memorize healing Scriptures.

- “One Scripture verse can bring your healing miracle” (Norvel Hayes).
- We have the power of attorney—the legal right to use the name of Jesus.
- The name of Jesus brings healing.
- Beings in all three worlds bow to the name of Jesus.
- “Healing is ours, the name of Jesus makes it available to us. That name is ours, and in that name is all health. Do not try; do not struggle—just use it. Use it like you use your checkbook. The money is on deposit. Healing is on deposit” (Kenyon).
- We are overcomers by declaring the blood of Jesus.

Chapter Four

LAUNCHING THE MISSILES OF WAR

THE POWER FOR healing is in the warheads—the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus. The missiles simply carry the warheads to their targets. God has given us several powerful missiles, which we will review in this chapter.

THE PRAISE AND WORSHIP MISSILE

The premise of this section is very simple: praise and worship bring us healing and deliverance. This way of healing is dynamite.

THE PRESENCE OF THE LORD BRINGS HEALING

In Luke 5:17 we read that the presence of the Lord has power to heal. Praise and worship create the doorway through which we enter into His presence to receive healing. Psalm 22:3 says, “But Thou art holy, O Thou that inhabitest the praises of Israel.” God is so pleased with the praises of His people that He comes down to fellowship with us. Once He is present with us, His presence then makes sick bodies whole. Norvel Hayes says, “When you praise the Lord, you build Him a habitation, a dwelling place.”¹

The late Kathryn Kuhlman had an unusual healing ministry that was unexplainable in human terms. Believers and unbelievers both got healed. Those who knew Kathryn Kuhlman best said that she spent hours each day caught away in worshiping and praising the Lord, whom she loved with all her being. Marilyn Hickey says, “When Kathryn walked onto a platform, she simply took her audience into that worship and praise; and the power of the Lord was present to heal.”²

FIRST THINGS FIRST—WORSHIP GOD

Norvel Hayes says, “Only after you worship and praise God, do you have a right to ask God to heal you or do anything else for you. If you don’t know this, it can cost you your life.”³ He goes on to say, “But if you’ll put first things first, there’s no such thing as the devil killing you. He doesn’t have the power to kill you, if you’ll worship God.”⁴

There are thousands of illustrations about people praising and worshiping God and then being healed. Don Gossett, in Praise Avenue, tells of a man named Jack Neville who in 1952 had been involved in a serious train wreck in Fresno. X-rays revealed that his back was badly broken. The doctors had said, “In your present condition, you probably will not make it. If you do live, you will never walk again.” He felt inwardly crushed. As he was praying for God to take him home if he would never walk again, Matthew 8:17 flashed across his mind: “...Himself took our infirmities....” As the wonder of this truth hit him, he became transformed. “With His stripes we are healed” was no longer a worn-out phrase to him. He began to worship and praise the Lord. Finally he exercised his faith and stepped down on the floor to find that he was strong. He walked out of the hospital a healed man because of praise and worship.⁵

A CHOIR LED THE ISRAELI ARMY

Praise, worship, and music are powerful weapons. In Second Chronicles 20, we have the story of the invasion of Israel by three armies. Jehoshaphat is king of Israel and becomes afraid when he’s informed of the invasion. Instead of surrendering, however, he proclaims a fast and begins seeking the Lord. The spirit of prophecy then comes upon Jahaziel. His prophetic word outlines the battle plan that God has designed. God’s plan was for the choir to lead the army into battle. Following the plan, the Levites advanced before the armies of Israel, praising and worshiping the Lord with songs. As soon as they began to sing and praise, the Lord set ambushes against the three armies of the enemy. The battle plan still works today.

PRAISE SHOOK THE JAIL

The apostle Paul wrote that the weapons of our warfare are “... mighty through God to the pulling down of strong holds” (2 Cor. 10:4). He had a chance to practice what he preached one night in a Philippian jail. He literally pulled down the strongholds by the power of praise. Acts 16:25 declares, “At midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sang praises unto God....” In the midst of their bondage, in the midst of the pain, they praised God. They offered a sacrifice of praise, and their prison cell—the stronghold—was shaken and they were set free.

WORSHIP ALONE AND CORPORATELY

Praise and worship can be done alone or in a group. In his book How to Live and Not Die, Norvel Hayes shows how to best start our day. He says:

Bring your hands out from under the covers. If you can't lift them very high, just lift them a little bit. But open up your mouth and say: "Jesus, I love You and I thank You that my name is written in heaven. I worship You, Jesus. Thou art great, O God. There are no other gods before You. Jesus, I just want to thank You because You are my Saviour and my Healer. Thank You, Jesus, for Your divine healing power. Thank You that Your healing power is flowing through my body right now to drive out every affliction, in Jesus' name. No affliction can stay in my body. I belong to You, Jesus, and I worship You."⁶

Though praise and worship is a personal thing, it becomes corporate when we gather with other members of the Body of Christ. Terry Law affirms:

When praise and worship is loosed by a group, there is a tremendous amount of power generated...Because corporate praise involves the power of agreement, the power of coming into harmony, there is a tremendous spiritual energy generated.⁷

On October 25, 1992, after speaking in a church in Rochester, New York, I personally saw corporate worship bring healing. After bringing a message on divine healing, I encouraged the people to take some time to worship God. After they had worshiped and praised God for about 30 minutes, numerous people began coming to the platform to tell how they had been healed as they worshiped.

Also, during a two-week intensified seminar presented by Christian International in Santa Rosa Beach in September 1992, many were healed during the worship time after Robert Gay preached on the power of worship. The song of the Lord had gone forth that arthritis was being healed. I was sitting next to friends from Detroit. The man was instantly healed of arthritis in the shoulder. That same evening many others told of miracles taking place.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN THANKSGIVING, PRAISE, AND WORSHIP

Many Christians find themselves using the words thanksgiving, praise, and worship interchangeably. There are different meanings for the words. Terry Law explains, "Thanksgiving relates to God's deeds, what He has done. Praise relates to God's character, who He is. Worship relates directly to God's holiness."⁸

GIVE THANKS IN THE MIDST OF DISEASE

We give thanks in the midst of disease by saying, "By His stripes we are healed" (see 1 Pet. 2:24). We give thanks that He took our infirmities and bore our sicknesses (see Matt. 8:17). I like to give thanks according to Exodus 15:26, thanking Him for being the God who heals me. We should thank God for answering satan's attack. Thanksgiving is the trigger that prepares us for the miracle-working power of God.

UNDERSTANDING PRAISE WORDS

"The best way to understand what praise means is to examine the words used for praise in the Old Testament," says Law.⁹

Hallelujah simply means “praise the Lord.” It is a combination of the Hebrew words halal and Jehovah. It means to be boastful, to be excited, and to enjoy. This word connotes a tremendous explosion of enthusiasm in the act of praising. For the person wanting to be healed, simply singing, shouting, or saying “hallelujah!” has tremendous power.

Yadah is used as a public acknowledgement, as in Psalm 138:1: “I will praise Thee with my whole heart; before the gods will I sing praise unto Thee.” The root meaning of this word has to do with the extended hand or throwing out the hand. It implies worshipping with raised hands. Warring sick people need to worship often with action, throwing their hands upward in power. When Jehoshaphat’s choir went before the army, they lifted their hands with all their strength and said, “Praise [yadah] the Lord; for His mercy endureth forever” (2 Chron. 20:21). This is the opposite of wringing one’s hands in despair when the doctor has given a bad report.

The Hebrew word barak simply means “to bless.” Terry Law says that there is a sense of kneeling and blessing God as an act of adoration in the word barak.¹⁰ The word is often translated as “bowing down in a worshipful attitude.” When people are sick, they should take time from all the running around and simply kneel before the Lord, staying there, blessing Him, expecting to receive the promise of His healing touch. During this kind of worship, one can expect a miracle. Note Psalm 72:15: “...let them bless [barak] Him all day long” (NASB).

Zamar is another word of praise. This is one of the musical verbs for praise in the Book of Psalms.¹¹ It carries with it the idea of making music in praise to God as in Psalm 92:1: “It is a good thing to give thanks unto the Lord, and to sing praises unto Thy name, O most High.” Law affirms that it is impossible to understand praise without understanding its relationship to music.¹² Zamar means to touch the strings and refers to praise that involves instrumental worship as delineated in Psalm 150. For those who are sick, music is very effective therapy. In his delightful book, Praise Faith in Action, Charles Trombley tells of a group in Long Island who held an all-night New Year's party where everyone came expecting to participate with praise and various kinds of instruments. The director had laid a $30,000 need for property before the Lord and had a praise party. The next day they received a check for $30,000 for the property. Later the director's wife was healed from advanced terminal cancer the same way—a praise party with musical instruments.¹³

Shabach is another word for praise. This word is used in Psalm 117:1: "O Praise the Lord, all ye nations: praise Him, all ye people." This word as used here means to laud, or to speak well of in a high and befitting way. It also means to address in a loud tone, to command triumph and glory, or to shout. There is a time when it is appropriate to give a loud shout unto the Lord. This is the kind of praise that makes the devil shut up. The shabach is effective everywhere: at church, at home, while driving. The shout will often set sick people free. Psalm 47:1 reads, "...Shout unto God with the voice of triumph." It works! Every sick person should be encouraged to worship in this manner.

The next Hebrew word for praise is towdah. In the New American Standard Bible, it is translated as "thanksgiving." It is used in the Book of Psalms to thank God for things that have not yet happened, as well as for those things already completed. "Towdah" is directly related to the concept of sacrifice as it relates to praise.¹⁴ If we are willing to offer up a sacrifice of praise now, then we shall see a manifestation of the salvation of God. In other words, we must praise Him before the event. The sacrifice of praise as an act of faith is implicit in the word towdah. It is rejoicing in something that is promised in the Word, but which has not yet taken place. Terry Law says:

This is what happens in my praise and healing rallies when I encourage people to praise the Lord before there has been any manifestation of healing from God. As people raise their hearts and hands in praise to the Lord, it involves a sacrifice, especially if they are very sick in their bodies.¹⁵

Tehillah is another Hebrew word meaning to sing or to laud. It is the singing forth of our halals. This word is used in Psalm 22:3 where we read that God inhabits (sits enthroned on) the praises of His people. God manifests Himself in the midst of exuberant singing. In Second Chronicles 20:22, when Israel began to sing and to praise God, He set ambushes. This word refers to a special kind of singing: it is the singing of unprepared, unrehearsed songs; probably what we would know today as singing in the Spirit. Other references are Psalm 34:1, Psalm 40:3, and Psalm 66:2. In Ephesians 5:18-19, Paul tells us to “... Be filled with the Spirit; speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs...” This tehillah singing isn’t just spirit singing; however, it is songs of the Spirit, unprepared, unpremeditated, that simply flow forth as a result of being filled with the Spirit. A person desiring healing should sing this way. In private times we can begin to sing the Word or sing whatever God is saying at that particular time. It is a wonderful avenue of healing.

Another word for praise is ruah. This word means “to shout with joy.” Psalm 95:1 says, “...Let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation.” Psalm 100:1 commands, “Make a joyful noise unto the Lord....” Every sick person should be encouraged to shout with joy and sing joyful songs to the Lord.

All of these words for praise are words of sound. Terry Law says, "Praise in the Old Testament always is accompanied with sound. It is vocal, it is public, and it is excited."¹⁶ In all these ways of praise, one can use the mighty weapons of the Name, the Word, and the Blood.

PRaise PREPARES THE WAY FOR MIRACLES

Praise prepares the way for the supernatural miracle-working power of God. When the devil comes against us, praise will make a way of escape. Psalm 50:23 declares, "Whoso offereth praise glorifieth Me: and to him that ordereth his conversation aright will I shew the salvation of God." The word translated salvation here refers to the salvation of the body as well as the soul. It refers directly to deliverance from satanic attack. When we offer up the sacrifice of praise, God will show us His salvation by coming to us with deliverance. This means that through praise we have prepared a way for Him to intervene.

Jonah was in the belly of the fish when he talked about the water compassing him about and the weeds wrapping around his neck. But in chapter 2 verse 9 he said, "But I will sacrifice unto Thee with the voice of thanksgiving..." In the next verse the Bible says, "The Lord spake unto the fish and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land." Something about his praise lined him up for deliverance. Law says, "In our prayer we must stay away from complaining and offer a sacrifice of praise. Then God speaks to the source of our complaint and brings deliverance."¹⁷

PRaise STOPS OUR ENEMIES

Psalm 8:2 tells us, "Out of the mouth of babes and sucklings hast thou ordained strength because of thine enemies, that thou mightest still the enemy and the avenger." God has ordained praise as a weapon to stop the enemy. Since sickness is a number one enemy for many, praise can stop this enemy as it comes against the bodies of God's children.

PRAISING GOD IN THE DANCE

Dancing before the Lord is another powerful way of worshipping God. Psalm 149:3 commands, "Let them praise His name in the dance...." This kind of praise also greatly benefits the warrior. In Psalm 30:11 David testifies, "Thou hast turned for me my mourning into dancing...." Robert Gay maintains, "When we dance, we put the devil under our feet."¹⁸ When people are physically able, they should dance before the Lord, expecting the devil to stop the fight because he is under the feet of the warrior.

THE PRAYER MISSILE

Prayer is one of the greatest missiles for launching the warheads. In John 16:24, Jesus said, "Hitherto have ye asked nothing in My name: ask, and ye shall receive...." Jesus declares here that the prayer prayed in His name will receive His attention. This puts prayer on a legal basis, for He has given us the legal right to use His name. E.W. Kenyon says:

As we take our privilege and rights and pray in Jesus' name, it passes out of our hands into the hands of Jesus; He then assumes the responsibility of that prayer, and we know that He said, "Father, I thank thee that thou hearest me." In other words, we know that the Father always hears Jesus, and when we pray in Jesus' name, it is as though Jesus Himself were doing the praying. He takes our place. When we pray, we take Jesus' place here to carry out His will, and He takes our place before the Father.¹⁹

GOD HAS NO FAVORITES IN PRAYER

Thousands of people are depending solely on the prayers of other people as though God will hear others rather than them. To be healed, you have the right to do your own asking, your own believing, your own receiving. Go to God, quote His Word, and see the healing come.

AGREEMENT IN PRAYER CAN BRING HEALING

When a person has a prayer partner, for some reason there is much more power. Deuteronomy 32:30 and Joshua 23:10 both indicate that with God, one believer can chase a thousand enemies; yet two together can put ten thousand to flight.

Let me admonish those needing healing that in spite of the benefits of united prayer, they must learn to stand alone at times. Kenneth Hagin says:

It is easy to get healed in a mass meeting where there is a mass faith and everybody's believing...But when these people get back home on their own, they're really on their own. They're not surrounded by faith any longer. Many times they're surrounded by doubt and unbelief. Then the minute the first symptoms show up, they say, "I thought the Lord healed me, but I guess He didn't." And when they say that, they open the door to the devil. Instead of rising up and meeting the devil with the Word of God and commanding his power to be broken, they yield. Why? Because they have no foundation of God's word in their lives. They are depending on others to carry them on their prayers and faith...A permanent healing will be based on their own faith. No one can maintain a healing which has come as a result of another's faith, gifts of the Spirit, and so on, unless his faith is developed through the Word of God to the point where he can maintain his own rights.²⁰

There are times, however, when another person in agreement brings the needed healing. John G. Lake writes of his sister's illness and healing at a point when they thought she was gone:

I discovered this strange fact, that there are times when one's spirit lays hold on the spirit of another. I just felt my spirit lay hold on the spirit of that sister. And I prayed, "Dear Lord, she cannot go." I walked up and down the room for some time. My spirit was crying out for somebody with faith in God that I could call upon to help me...As I walked up and down in my sister's room, I could think of but one man who had faith on this line. That was John Alexander Dowie, six hundred miles away. I went to the phone, called Western Union and told them I wanted to get a telegram through to Dr. Dowie with an answer back as quickly as possible. I sent this wire; "My sister has apparently died, but my spirit will not let her go. I believe if you will pray, God will heal her." I received this answer back: "Hold on to God. I am praying. She will live." I have asked a thousand times, "What would it have meant if instead of that telegram of faith, I had received one from a weakling preacher who might have said, 'I am afraid you are on the wrong track,' or 'Brother, you are excited,' or 'the days of miracles are past'?" It was the strength of his faith that came over the wire that caused the lightnings of my soul to begin to flash, and while I stood at the telephone and listened, the very lightnings of God began to flash in my spirit. I prayed, "This thing is of hell; it cannot be; it will not be. In the name of Jesus Christ, I abolish this death and sickness, and she shall live." And as I finished praying, I turned my eyes toward the bed, and saw her eyelids blink...Five days later she came to father's home and sat down with us to Christmas dinner.²¹

HEALING GROUPS CAN BRING HEALING

Francis McNutt, a former Catholic priest, speaks of "soaking prayer" in his book The Power to Heal.²² Mark Virkler picks up on that theme in his newsletter, in which he gives a pattern which he used in a retreat for praying for the sick in groups. Virkler says:

We did a healing prayer workshop using soaking prayer, having people break into groups and pray for about twenty minutes for the person in the center of the group. We specifically designed the groups so that the sick individual would have a unique gifting of people around them. First would be a person who was suffering from the same ailment as they. (This person would have empathy.) Another person would be one who had been healed from the same condition. (This person would have faith.) A third person would be a close friend or family member. (This person would have compassion.) Then others could join as they desired.²³

CALLING FOR THE ELDERS IS CALLING FOR MORE TROOPS

In the Great Commission that Christ gave His disciples in Mark 16:17-18, He said, “And these signs shall follow them that believe; in My name shall they cast out devils...they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover.” James 5:14-15 states:

Is any sick among you? let him call for the elders of the church; and let them pray over him, anointing him with oil in the name of the Lord: and the prayer of faith shall save the sick, and the Lord shall raise him up....

McCrossan reminds us:

The word for save here is sosei, the future, 3rd singular of sozo, the very word used by Christ every time he said to a sick person, “Thy faith hath made thee whole.”²⁴

Also read carefully the following verses: Matthew 9:22, Mark 6:56, Mark 10:52, Luke 8:48, and Luke 17:19. This kind of healing is a part of God’s Word. When it is obeyed, God marvelously fulfills His promise.

DILIGENCE IN PRAYER IS REQUIRED

Diligence is required of those who are praying for healing. God is the rewarder of those who diligently seek Him. Thousands of people undergo major surgery and take their medicine diligently without any promise of being healed. Yet when coming to God for healing, which God positively promises to give, many do not come with that kind of diligence.

Persistence is necessary for being healed of major diseases. Some have held to the philosophy that they ask only once, fearing that to ask again would show unbelief. In most healings, however, except for instantaneous miracles, persistence is what pays off.

The woman of Canaan mentioned in Matthew 15:21-28 came to Jesus to ask for the healing of her daughter. She was an alien to the commonwealth of Israel. She was a stranger to the covenant of God. She had no “right” to healing. In fact, she was a devotee of a heathen religion. Everything was against her. Even the disciples were trying to get the Lord to get rid of her. He said to her, “I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel” (Matt. 15:24). Then He said, “It is not meet to take the children’s bread, and to cast it to dogs” (Matt. 15:26). He was obviously calling her a dog, a type of everything unclean. Yet she persisted and got her prayer answered. Jesus said to her, “O woman, great is thy faith: be it unto thee even as thou wilt” (Matt. 15:28). Persistence pays off.

USE THE MIGHTY WARHEADS IN PRAYER

Warriors will be victors if they use the Word, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus in their prayer lives. These mighty warheads, launched into orbit through the prayer missile, will bring destruction to the devil’s attack.

Pray the Word, not the problem. God’s Word is our contact with Him. We put Him in remembrance of His Word (see Isa. 43:26). We remind Him that He is the Lord who heals us. His Word does not return to Him void—without producing results—but it shall accomplish that which He pleases and purposes, and it shall prosper in the thing for which He sent it (see Isa. 55:11).

Use the name of Jesus, that mighty warhead, in prayer. John 14:13-15 records one of the most staggering promises and commandments ever made by Jesus:

And whatsoever ye shall ask in My name, that will I do, that the Father may be glorified in the Son. If ye shall ask anything in My name, I will do it. If ye love Me, keep My commandments.

That name has been given to us for our use. When we pray in His name scripturally, it is as though Christ Himself has prayed. There is no sickness, no demon, no person that can prevent the answer to the prayer in the name of Jesus. Use it!

While praying, picture the blood of Jesus flowing over the altar of God. That blood is just as powerful today as it has ever been. Declare the blood of Jesus in your prayer life. Because of that blood, we are clothed with righteousness. That robe is the perfect blood of Jesus. One drop of His blood is enough to heal any disease. The blood speaks! It speaks healing.

These warheads are destructive to sickness. Let the prayer missile destroy the satanic stronghold of sickness.

THE CONFESSION MISSILE

Sick people can war with the Word through their confession. In Hebrews 3:1, Christianity is called a profession. Bosworth says that the Greek word translated profession is the same as the one translated confession.²⁵ He says that the word means “to say the same thing.” He goes on to explain: “It means to believe and say what God says about our sins, our sickness, and everything else included in our redemption.”²⁶ It must be noted, however, that confessing the Word is not the same as denying one’s sickness. People cannot war for healing until they know that their sickness is a real enemy.

Bosworth maintains:

We are commanded to consider Christ Jesus as the high priest of our confession. As our high priest, Jesus acts in our behalf according to what we confess, when it is in accord with God's word.²⁷

WRONG CONFESSION BRINGS THE OPPOSITE OF HEALING

Bosworth goes on to say, "Confessing disease is like signing for the package that the express company has delivered. Satan has a receipt from you showing that you have accepted it."²⁸ Peter says, "If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God" (1 Pet. 4:11a). Ephesians 4:29 commands us to speak only "that which is good to the use of edifying..."

SPEAK GOD'S LANGUAGE

Sick people must say what God's Word says. They must agree with God by agreeing with His Word. They must not call things as they are; they must call them as God's Word says they should be. Confession either heals or keeps you sick. God's words upon your lips become as powerful as if He was saying them Himself.

"Thou shalt also decree a thing, and it shall be established unto thee..." (Job 22:28). The words you speak are vital to your health and well-being. Charles Capps says:

There are some diseases that will never be cured unless people learn to speak the language of health that the body understands. God's Word is infused (engrafted) into you by giving voice to His Word with your own mouth, and this is the language of health to your body.²⁹

Joel 3:10 says, "...Let the weak say, I am strong." Kenyon declares, "This is the paradox of faith: to say I am strong when I am weak."³⁰

CONFESSIONS THAT AID THE WARRIOR

In his delightful booklet God's Creative Power for Healing,³¹ Charles Capps has provided some tremendous confessions which I personally used during my crisis with cancer. Some of them are as follows:

Jesus is the Lord of my life. I forbid sin, sickness, and disease to have any power over me. I am forgiven and free from sin and guilt. I am dead to sin and alive unto the righteousness of God (Col. 1:21-22).

Jesus bore my sickness and carried my pain. Therefore I give no place to sickness or pain. For God sent His word and healed me (Ps. 107:20).

As God was with Moses, so is He with me. My eyes shall not be dim; neither will my natural power be abated. Blessed are my eyes, for they see, and my ears, for they hear.

Jesus took my infirmities and bore my sicknesses. Therefore I refuse to allow sickness to dominate my body. The life of God flows in my body and brings healing to every fiber of my being (Mt. 8:17; Jn. 6:63).

Because I am redeemed from the curse, I declare that the truth of Galatians 3:13 is flowing in my bloodstream. It flows to every cell of my body, restoring health and life (Mk. 11:23; Lk. 17:6).

Father, your life is in me. First Peter 2:24 flows in my bloodstream, restoring every cell of my body. Your word is made a reality in my flesh, and life is restored to every cell of my body in Jesus' name.

Launching the Missiles of War

That which God has not planted is dissolved and rooted out of this body in Jesus' name. First Peter 2:24 is engrafted into every fiber of my being, and my body is alive with the life of God (Mk. 11:23; Jn. 6:63).

I am redeemed from the curse, and I forbid growths and tumors to inhabit my body. The life of God in my blood dissolves growths and tumors, and my strength and health is restored (Mt. 16:19; Jn. 14:13, Mk. 11:23).

Every organ and tissue of my body functions in the perfection to which God created it to function. I forbid any malfunction in my body in Jesus' name (Gen. 1:28,31).

Father, your word has become a part of me. It is flowing in my blood stream. It flows to every cell of my body, restoring and transforming my body. Your word is becoming flesh; for you sent your word and healed me (Jas. 1:21; Ps. 107:20; Prov. 13:3).

Thank you, Father, that I have a strong heart. My heart beats with the rhythm of life. My blood flows to every cell of my body restoring life and health abundantly (Prov. 12:14; 14:30).

My blood pressure is 120 over 80. The life of God flows in my blood and cleanses my arteries of all matter that does not pertain to life.

I have a strong heart. Every heartbeat sends the life of God flowing through my veins, cleansing my body of sickness and disease. My blood is pure, and it destroys every disease germ and every virus that attacks my body (Eph. 3:19-20; Ex. 23-25; Mk. 11:23).

I speak to my blood. I command every red and white cell to destroy every disease germ, virus or alien cell that tries to inhabit my body. In Jesus' name I command every cell of my body to be normal. I forbid any malfunction in my body cells (Rom. 5:17; Lk. 17:6).

My immune system grows stronger day by day. I speak life to my immune system. I forbid confusion in my immune system. The same spirit that raised Christ from the dead dwells in me and quickens my immune system with the life of God, and it guards the life and health of my body.

Here is another confession that I picked up at Rhema Bible College's School of Healing:³²

According to Proverbs 17:22, "A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones."

Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! I have a merry heart. Sick-ness can't dominate me. Satan can't dominate me. What do you think you're trying to do, devil? You can't put sick-ness on me. Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha, ha! I have a merry heart. I'm full of joy. A merry heart works like a medicine. God's medicine is working in me!

THE RESISTANCE MISSILE

Another missile with which sick people war is resistance. The Bible says that we must not "give place to the devil" (Eph. 4:27). James exhorts, "...Resist the devil, and he will flee from you" (James 4:7). Too often Christians pet and indulge their aches and pains instead of resisting them as the work of the devil. Disease must be treated as something from hell and not pampered.

RESIST WITH THE WORD

“It is written” is one of the strongest ways of resisting. Bosworth says:

All the devil heard from the lips of Christ, when tempting Him was, “It is written. It is written” (Mt. 4:4,7,10). “Then the devil leaveth him” (Mt. 4:11). But all we hear from people is “The devil said,” as though Christ’s works were of less consequence than those of the devil.³³

When the devil hears the Word of God, his power dissolves.

RESIST WITH LOUD WORDS

According to Norvel Hayes, sometimes the best way to resist is by shouting out, “No, you don’t. No you don’t!”³⁴ Sick people should loudly tell the devil what he is to do. Some say we should not give the devil any credit. They feel he should be ignored. But nowhere does the Bible tell us to ignore the devil. It tells us to resist him.

Barbara Yee of Detroit, Michigan, was told that she had cancer. She immediately started pacing the floor. She shouted, “Devil, you dropped your package off at the wrong door. Get it and take it somewhere else, because I don’t want it.” She was healed.

Smith Wigglesworth tells about the night before the great healing of a man named Lazarus. He said:

When I got to bed it seemed as if the devil tried to place on me everything that he had placed on that poor man in the bed. When I awoke I had a cough and all the weakness of a tubercular patient. I rolled out of bed on the floor and cried out to God to deliver me from the power of the devil. I shouted loud enough to wake everybody in the house.³⁵

SPEAK TO SYMPTOMS WHEN THEY RETURN

When symptoms reoccur after healing has taken place, it is necessary to speak to them like this: "Cancer, you cannot live in my body. I told you you could not stay. Now get out, in Jesus' name."

THE PREACHING MISSILE

Preaching is another powerful missile. Terry Law says, "Preaching carries the Word, the Name, and the Blood into the hearts of God's people and into the hearts of the unsaved."³⁶

PREACHING BRINGS HEALING TO THE PREACHER

When ministers get sick, they should keep preaching the healing message. Every time they stand up to preach the Word of God, they declare to the strongholds in their lives that they have authority over them.

Immediately after fighting for my life against cancer, I went to downtown Detroit and rented a building to conduct a healing school. The people who came were healed, but the biggest blessing was to my own faith.

PREACHING BRINGS HEALING TO OTHERS

Fuchsia Pickett was a Methodist preacher who did not believe in divine healing. There had been six deaths in her family, including her father and two brothers, and she had to be carried from a hospital to her father's funeral. Nurses had packed her carefully onto a stretcher so that her backbone would not vibrate, causing it to break in pieces. After the funeral, while leaving in an ambulance, she waved back at her father's casket and said, "I will join you, Daddy, in a few months."

A few months earlier, her sick father had walked into her room and said, "Pastor, I think we have missed something. I think we have missed knowing the God of Elijah." Fuchsia had said, "Daddy, we don't need that now. Healing is not for us today. That which is perfect has come."

A few months after her father's death, she slipped into a small church to visit, thinking it would be the last one she would ever attend. A 70-year-old man was preaching. God had awakened him at four o'clock in the morning and instructed him to preach on "Where is the Lord God of Elijah?" He had obeyed. As he preached, he declared, "If you had the faith of Elijah, you could see what Elijah saw." Then he stepped from behind the pulpit and said to Fuchsia, "My beloved, you may have followed the dearest one on earth to you and left him on a green mound, but He wants you to know that He did not take his God away from you. The God of Elijah is in this church today."

Fuchsia ordered her friend to stand her up. She went to the front for prayer. After prayer she returned to her seat. When she reached the seventh row, she heard the voice of God say, "If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land." Standing there in her braces, she knew she was going to live. She stood to testify. She later said, "The power of God struck the base of my cranium. It traveled down my spine and came back up to my head. One hour and twenty minutes later, I had danced all over that church, right out of my braces."³⁷

THE BINDING, LOOSING, AND ROOTING UP MISSILE

Binding and loosing is important in the healing process of the warring sick Christian. Jesus said, "Whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven; and whatsoever ye shall loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven" (Matt. 18:18). Sick people must bind the spirit of infirmity, then loose the healing power in their lives.

In the authority of Jesus' name, we can root up sickness, disease, and infirmity. Matthew 15:13, which says, "Every plant, which My heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up" is the verse that became a rhema to me in my time of crisis with cancer.

Marilyn Hickey, in her excellent book Be Healed, tells a moving story about a woman who decided to root out cancer for another person. Marilyn writes:

The doctor stood at the woman's bedside shaking his head in unbelief...There was no cancer in the woman's body. Two weeks ago the patient had been given only twenty-four hours to live...One individual had believed in God's marvelous power to heal. This person had never met the dying woman but she had heard of the woman's plight through a friend. Fierce anger and intense hope had risen up inside her like a geyser—anger at the devil's disease and hope in God's ability to heal...The woman prayed, "You foul spirit of cancer, leave this woman's body. I curse you in Jesus' name, and I command this cancer to die at the roots. It shall find no place in this body to stay." Within the critical 24 hours, the woman reported that she could feel something moving in her body...In a day or two the patient, who was still alive, began to vomit large quantities of some odd substance. When the vomiting ceased, the woman began a remarkable recovery. All the doctors could say when the lab test came back clear was, “She vomited the cancer from her body.”³⁸

The intercessor had rooted out the cancer.

THE GENERATIONAL CURSE-BREAKING MISSILE

One of the ways in which we can be attacked by sickness, disease, and infirmity is through the door of inheritance. If one family member has had a particular disease, others in the family may be attacked by the same affliction. The enemy comes in any door that he can possibly open to kill and to destroy.

But this, too, can be rooted up. Marilyn Hickey says, “We can lay the ax of God’s Word to the root of that tree, free ourselves from any generational curse,’ and stop it from bearing bad fruit in future generations.”³⁹ Isaiah says:

And they that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in (Isaiah 58:12).

If heart trouble runs in a person’s family, that person can take hold of the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus, and can come against satan and that evil inheritance. This works with any generational curse.

THE TESTIMONY MISSILE

The world is waiting for people who will tell of their personal healing experience as well as tell how the Word of God worked in their time of crisis. When people have a serious illness, they want those who have traveled that same road and emerged victorious. Terry Law explains:

If someone says God doesn't heal today, and you testify to the fact that He healed you of this disease or that disease, that settles the argument. Everyone will listen to a personal testimony.⁴⁰

Some of the great men and women of God share often of their notable healings. Some examples are Oral Roberts and Kenneth Hagin. Roberts tells of his collapsing on a gymnasium floor playing basketball at 17 years of age. He tells how his sister said, "Oral, you are going to be healed." Hagin tells the story of being bedfast at 16 years of age and God miraculously healing him. These giants in the healing ministry testify of their personal healings because they know the powerful impact their testimony can have on others. Terry Law again explains, "When we launch our testimony, we unleash a spiritual law and that law is just as true and unbreakable as the laws of physics."⁴¹

THE GRACE MISSILE

I have been asked many times about the person with physical handicaps. On one occasion I had spoken on spiritual warfare and healing at a retreat in Kentucky. The young lady who sang immediately before I ministered had a deformed body. Her spirit, however, was electrifying. When she sang, she brought the very presence of God into the meeting. She prepared the atmosphere for me to minister healing to other people. When I returned home and was telling about her dynamic ministry, someone asked me a puzzling question: "Was she healed?" Many times we simply do not have all the answers.

On many such occasions God's grace goes into operation and a person with handicaps does not have to be stopped. They, too, can win and be greatly used of God in spite of their handicap. There are examples today of people who have refused to be stopped and overcome by handicaps. They have tapped onto powerful sources of strength, courage, and power. Someone has said, "There is only one insurmountable handicap and that is the loss of inner power. Nothing else is unconquerable. It is what is in your brain that counts."

Many of the greatest people in history have had tremendous handicaps. John Milton was blind; yet he wrote Paradise Lost and Paradise Regained. Fanny Crosby was also blind; yet she left us over 9,000 hymns when she died. Louis Braille and many others were blind, but their handicaps did not stop them. Lord Byron was crippled. So was Franklin D. Roosevelt. Thomas Edison was nearly deaf. Ludwig van Beethoven, one of the world's greatest composers, lost his hearing completely; yet he completed his famous Ninth Symphony. Helen Keller was blind, deaf, and until later in her life, mute.

Carol Schuller, the daughter of Robert Schuller, is a striking example of someone who has allowed God's grace to make her an overcomer. The Schullers were in Korea when Carol had a motorcycle accident. She was in critical condition, losing 17 pints of blood. When they got her to the hospital, she had no pulse. In spite of her condition, her life was spared, though one of her legs had to be amputated below the knee. Schuller writes of that time:

I remember those trying months of 1978 when Mrs. Schuller and I were spending many hours with our daughter Carol who had had her leg amputated below the knee. We struggled with uncertainty, not knowing whether or not the doctors would be able to save her knee or her thigh. And I remember how much comfort we received when Carol looked at us and said, “I’ll tell you one thing, Dad, if they take my knee and if they take my thigh, it won’t change God’s plan for my life one bit!”⁴²

He continues:

“God’s plan doesn’t rest on whether you have an eye, or whether you can speak or hear.”⁴³

Shortly after her recuperation, Carol spent her Thanksgiving holiday learning to ski. Flying from Los Angeles to Denver, she took skiing instructions from Hal O’Leary, whom Schuller says has trained over one thousand amputees to ski. He further writes, “By the third day she was gliding gracefully down the longest slopes, jumping moguls—doing fabulously.”⁴⁴

When Carol was 17, the Schullers were on a boat cruise in the Hawaiian Islands with the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company. It was customary on the last night of this cruise to have a talent show in which the passengers participated. Carol decided to enter the contest. The Schullers wondered what she would do since she did not sing. Many of the passengers participated in the contest, but when Carol came on the platform, Schuller says:

She came on stage wearing neither shorts nor Hawaiian garb, but a full-length dress. She looked beautiful. She walked up to the microphone and said, “I really don’t know what my talent is, but I thought this would be a good chance for me to do what I think I owe you all, and that is an explanation. I know you’ve been looking at me all week, wondering about my fake leg. I thought I should tell you what happened. I was in a motorcycle accident. I almost died, but they kept giving me blood, and my pulse came back. They amputated my leg below the knee and later they amputated through the knee. I spent seven months in the hospital, seven months with intravenous antibiotics to fight infection...If I've but one talent, it is this: I can tell you that during that time my faith became very real to me...I look at you girls and you walk without a limp. I wish I could walk that way. I can't, but this is what I've learned, and I want to leave it with you—it's not how you walk that counts, but Who walks with you and Who you walk with. Jesus walks with me, and I walk with Him, and I'm happy. Thank you."⁴⁵

Schuller stated that there was not a person there who was not touched that night.

David Ring is a man who ministers to thousands that God's grace is sufficient. When he was born in 1953, there was no oxygen to his brain for 18 minutes. He was a cripple with cerebral palsy. His parents were good to him and loved him and made him happy by convincing him that he was special. At the age of 11, David's life took another turn when his father died. When he was 14, his mother died. He became lonely and wanted to die.

Members of his family finally gave up on him. They thought he would never do anything or be anything. He did not want to go to school and be laughed at because his body was different. He began to question whether God really loved him. Why was he born like this, he wondered? Why did God take his mother and father? He did not want to go to church, but his one sister kept on encouraging him to go. Finally one night he went just to get her “off his back.” But God spoke to him in that service about a relationship with Him.

David cried out, “God, I’m a nobody; but I want to be a somebody.” Then in 1971 God called him to preach the Gospel. He argued, “I can’t preach. I have cerebral palsy. I talk funny.” But God called him anyway, even though he can’t even say Jesus plainly. On one occasion in a service aired on Jerry Falwell’s Old Time Gospel Hour TV program, David testified:

They said, “Nobody will have you in their church.”
But I spoke 263 times in the last twelve months...They said, “You will never find a wife. No woman wants to live with you,” but in 1981 God and me showed them...
They told me I would never be a daddy...but I am four times.”

He closed his message with the challenge: “I have cerebral palsy. What’s your problem?”

Joni Eareckson Tada is an unforgettable young woman who also shows us how to be an overcomer. As a young girl Joni had dived into what she did not know was shallow water in the Chesapeake Bay, and as a result she has had to struggle against quadriplegia and depression. After surgery the reality hit that she would never walk again. Then the news came that she would not ever regain the use of her arms and hands. But she did allow God’s grace to work in her. She returned to her artwork. Though she used a pen or a brush in her mouth, her art took on a new quality and professionalism. She experimented with different pens and brushes, finally settling on a sharp, felt-tip flair pen. She signs her drawings PTL (Praise the Lord). She says:

God has ingrained the reflection of Christ into my character, developed my happiness, my patience, my purpose in life. He has given me contentment. My art is a reflection of how God can empower someone like me to rise above circumstances.⁴⁶

Today Joni's art has gone around the world and she speaks to thousands.

When the devil gives you a lemon, you let God make lemonade. The problem too often is that we don't want to give God the lemons. Someone has said, "Whatever stick the devil has beaten you with, take it and beat him back with it." For those who have gone through a crisis that has left them "not normal," spiritual warfare is the answer. The fight may be tough, but the impact of those warriors' lives will be great. Only eternity will reveal all of the blessings that will come to people around the world through such warriors who will not be stopped by their handicaps.

THE LAUNCHING OF ALL WEAPONS WITH THE HUMAN MOUTH

"Every one of the weapons is launched with the human mouth," declares Terry Law.⁴⁷ We praise and worship with our mouths. We pray with our mouths. We confess with our mouths. We preach with our mouths. We resist with our mouths. We bind and loose with our mouths. Law further states, "With our mouths, we can launch God's rockets or the devil's rockets. It is up to us to make the choice."⁴⁸ In fact, you, yourself, can become the missile that God will use to bring healing to others. Just open your mouth!

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- The warring missiles carry the warheads to the place for destruction of the enemy.
- We enter into the power and presence of the Lord through praise and worship.
- Praise prepares the way for the supernatural miracle-working power of God.
- Praise stops the enemy.
- People may not be able to maintain a healing which has come as a result of another's faith.
- Pray the Word, not the problem.
- Say what God says and shut up.
- Wrong confession brings the opposite of healing.
- Speak God's language.
- The resistance missile is like dynamite.
- Disease must be treated as something from hell and must not be pampered.
- Resist with the Word.
- Resist with loud words.
- Speak to symptoms.

- Preaching carries the warheads into the hearts of people.
- Binding puts chains on the enemy and takes the key out of the door.
- Bind sickness and loose health.
- Lay the ax of God's Word to the root of the generational curse tree.
- Everyone will listen to a personal testimony.
- Many of the greatest people in history have had great handicaps.
- When the devil gives you a lemon, let God make lemonade. The problem too often is that we don't want to give God the lemons.
- Every one of the rockets is launched with the human mouth.

Chapter Five

THE PROPHETIC WORD MISSILE

PERSONAL PROPHECY IS one of the greatest missiles in the arsenal of the spiritual warrior. Because of its uniqueness, I have devoted an entire chapter to our examination of it.

NOT A REVEALER OF GOD'S WILLINGNESS TO HEAL

Personal prophecy is not designed to reveal whether God is able or willing to heal. That has already been revealed by the logos, the written Word of God. I believe I have already demonstrated beyond any doubt that the Word has promised healing to all of God's children.

WHEN GOD KEEPS GIVING FUTURE DIRECTION

There are times when a prophet, not aware of a person's disease, will give a word concerning what the person will be doing in the future. When this occurs, such people can be assured that God is not yet finished with them. There are many examples of people who have received prophetic words even though they had contracted some incurable disease. As a result, their healing came.

On one occasion, Barbara Yoder was prophesying to a lady telling her what beautiful things God had planned for her life. The lady looked up and asked, "What about my cancer?" Barbara's reaction was, "You must be going to live because you will have to live for all of this to come about. Go believing that you are healed." At the time of this writing, this woman is alive and well.¹

I had been given numerous personal prophecies concerning God using me in a healing ministry. Then came the vicious attack of breast cancer. Though the enemy tried to kill me, it was evident that God had a plan for my life. I warred with the prophetic words that had been given to me. I reminded God, "God, Your prophets have spoken that I would have a healing ministry. Scott Webster, Your prophet, said this previous April before cancer struck in July that You were going to cause miracles to take place in my ministry. You said through Your prophet that You wanted me to march back like Elisha and smite the river and walk through on dry ground. You said You would send signs and wonders to convince the gainsayers."

WARRING WITH THE WORDS OF SEASONED PROPHETS

God will often give a sick person a prophetic word for encouragement, edification, and comfort. The person can then take the prophetic words of the mature, proven prophets and war with them. In Prophets and Personal Prophecy, Bishop Bill Hamon suggests:

Leave the “Thus saith the Lord” to the mature, proven prophets. They are the ones who are anointed to speak a creative word of healing and miraculous deliverance.²

He suggests that others should preface their words with, “My strong conviction is...I believe that...I am convinced that you will...The Bible declares that...”³

I warred with the prophetic words that came after the attack of cancer. My friend Barbara Yoder was very cautious about prophesying over me during my crisis because she did not want to prophesy solely out of her desire to see me well again. However, two weeks after I was dismissed from the hospital, she was so greatly anointed in one of our women’s meetings in Detroit that she simply had to prophesy. She declared:

For the Lord would say unto you, Peggy, This night is the beginning of a new day. Have not I said to you that you would lay hands on the sick and they would recover. For I would say unto you that I will loose from you a new healing flow and there shall be signs and wonders worked by your hands in the name of Jesus of Nazareth. You shall lay hands on the sick and they shall recover. You shall not go in and look at the faces of people. But you shall go into the meetings and look at the face of the Lord your God...And you shall lay hands on them and they shall be healed. For the Lord would say unto thee, Hath not satan touched you? Did he not try to kill you? But I would not let him have you, and I am doing a new thing. This night I release in you a new anointing. I release in you an anointing for healing. For I would say unto you to begin to lay hands on them. Begin to work the workings of miracles and your hands shall cast out devils, for I have put the power in your hands...I will take you where I said I will, for I am the Lord your God.

A while later, another prophetic word came. On August 28 I had discovered a new lump in the same breast from which I had previously on July 18 had a lump removed. I was sent back to Ann Arbor for another X-ray. As a friend and I sat in a restaurant on the way home, a man whom I had never seen before interrupted us and said, "Excuse me, lady. I do not know you, but the Holy Ghost just told me that God had a special blessing for you today and that you are all right." This provided me with another message with which to war. Because of the stress of the time, I did not keep a record of this prophet's name. I do know that he was from Flint, Michigan.

In September, an intercessor I had never known or heard of sent me a letter. It said:

Peggy, Dr. Frank Tunstall, my pastor, requested prayer for you on Sunday. While another intercessor and I were praying for you, the Lord gave me Isaiah 54:14-17 for you. The impression I had while praying was that satan and his agents were making lots of noise, but that it was just noise and would dissipate as you and intercessors come against it.

I warred with those words too.

In October 1990, I attended a minister's meeting in Detroit where Bishop Bill Hamon and Scott Webster were ministering. Scott prophesied:

Daughter of mine, I have called you to move in signs and wonders and miracles and healings. The enemy saw that seed and he began to attack you in your physical body. The Lord says I am arising against that spirit of infirmity which has come against you, and I am causing your innermost being and your organs to be healed. I am causing strength to arise; and God says, Daughter of Mine, you are going to preach healing, speak healing, minister healing and miracles, and you are going to live and not die...You are going to lay hands on the sick and minister the life of God; and the power of God and healing and miracles shall be manifested says the Lord your God.

Then Bishop Hamon prayed:

Father, we agree together as a body. We curse this foul thing that has been sent by the angel of death to try to destroy this body. We destroy this assignment of hell. We rebuke you now. We curse you now. Get out of this body. We declare life and health. And your assignment is cancelled and this body will live and not die but live in victory and power from on high. In Jesus' name, we activate the healing and health of God to resist and overcome every invasion of hell.

There were other prophetic words that kept coming. My husband and I were waiting in an airport in Dallas, Texas, when we ran across Harold Woodson, an evangelist who had been in our church several years previously. After he sat down on the plane, the Lord gave him these words: "The enemy has used his finest weapon, but it will not accomplish its purpose." In addition, my sister-in-law in Greenville, South Carolina, received a strong prophetic word that the devil had sent cancer, but that it was to be turned into a ministry for healing.

For months I warred with the prophetic words of Scott Webster, the evangelist, the intercessor, my sister-in-law, Barbara Yoder, the man in the restaurant, and numerous others. Their words were lifesavers when fears were sent from hell to make me afraid.

THOSE WHO SEE ONLY THE BATTLE

There are some areas that need to be guarded. Sometimes unseasoned prophets may see only the battle and not the victory. An example is when intercessors see a person dead. They may actually see this, but God may be showing them the devil's plan so that they can break that power in prayer. Often it takes a seasoned prophet to come along and break the power of death that the devil has planned.

An example of this is in the life of a dear friend of mine, a lady who is greatly used of God in the Detroit area. Her husband was the owner of a company which had experienced great difficulties in 1991. During this crisis time in the business, this lady was attacked with multiple sclerosis. During a one week period, three intercessors had come to her and said, "We have seen you dead while we were praying."

But then one Saturday morning Barbara Yoder spoke in a meeting this lady was attending. Though Barbara did not know the family or the lady, she turned to my friend on the platform and said, "Come here. Let me lay my hands on you. Your business is going to be blessed. And you are going to live and not die." This broke the spirit of death that had tried to attach itself to my friend. The intercessors probably had seen her dead, but they only saw the demonic attack that was raging in the spirit world. This could have brought on premature death had not a seasoned prophetess heard the Word of the Lord.

REVERSING SOME PROPHETIC WORDS

It should be noted that the prophetic word may be reversed at times. An example is Hezekiah. In Isaiah 38:1 we read that he was “sick unto death.” Isaiah the prophet came to him and said, “Thus saith the Lord, set thine house in order: for thou shalt die, and not live” (Isa. 38:1). His case was now hopeless. God had pronounced death upon him. Yet he did not die. He did not even set his house in order. He turned his face to the wall and sought God. God then reversed the prophetic word. He sent Isaiah back to Hezekiah with the news that He was extending his life (see Isa. 38:5).

If people should give sick people bad words, the sick ones should do as Hezekiah and turn their faces to the wall—away from negative people, away from the ones who gave the bad words. When people turn to God, they always find compassion.

PROPHETIC WORDS CONCERNING FUTURE HEALINGS

Sometimes a prophetic word may come to people about a healing that will take place in the future. A striking example of this was when Leon Walters was ministering to Don Kingsmore from North Carolina in a prophetic presbytery. Leon had prophesied beautiful things that God was going to do in Don's life and business. Then, in the middle of it all, Leon began to pray prophetically. He prayed for Don's back, his neck, and the blood circulation to the brain. Afterward, Leon asked Don if he had problems with any of those areas or even headaches. Don replied, “No, I do not have headaches or any of those problems, but I receive the prophecy and the prophetic prayer anyway.”

A few weeks later he had a motorcycle accident and broke his neck. His wife was rushing to the intensive care unit at the hospital when she stopped by the mailbox and found a tape of the prophetic presbytery from Christian International. She listened carefully to see if there was any hint of this accident in any of the prophetic words. There was nothing negative. But when she heard Leon praying prophetically for her husband, she understood that this was the time for which God had given the prophecy. She received that prayer and took it to her husband. They warred with the prophetic words. In just a few weeks Don was out of the hospital, out of all braces, and completely healed. He is still healed at the time of this writing with no problems. One of the greatest miracles was that the blood never stopped flowing to the brain even though his neck had been broken.⁴

HEARING THE VOICE OF GOD FOR OURSELVES

A prophetic gifting may be in development as warriors see themselves well, saturating themselves with the Word of God, calling those things that be not as though they were, and so forth. Therefore, warriors may need to do their own prophesying. When Ezekiel went to the valley of dry bones, God told him to prophesy to the bones. Sometimes, it becomes necessary for warriors to prophesy to their own pitiful situation.

GET INTO A QUIET PLACE

One of the first things people must do in order to hear the voice of God for themselves is to get into a quiet place. Habakkuk said, "I will stand upon my watch, and set me upon the tower..." (Hab. 2:1). Habakkuk knew that in order to hear the voice of God, he must get alone in a quiet place. In his book Communion with God,⁵ Mark Virkler maintains:

In order for us to hear the still, small voice of God within us, we ourselves must become quiet. Life is such a rush. We just rush up to God, blurt out our prayers and rush away again. I am convinced we will never enter the realm of the Spirit this way...We must learn to quiet our own inner being, all the voices and thoughts calling for attention. Until they are quieted, we will most likely not hear His voice. Becoming still cannot be hurried or forced. Rather, it must be allowed to happen. At a point in your stillness, God takes over and you sense His active flow within you. His spontaneous images begin flowing with a life of their own. His voice begins flowing, giving you wisdom and strength. You find that you are in the Spirit (Rev. 1:10).

JOURNALING HELPS US HEAR THE VOICE OF GOD MORE CLEARLY

Journaling is a biblical method that can be used to help warring people grow in discernment of the voice of God. The Book of Psalms is an example of journaling, which simply means keeping a notebook of prayers and what you sense to be God's answers. Virkler feels:

God is speaking to His children much of the time. However, we often do not differentiate His voice from our own thoughts, and therefore, we are timid about stepping out in faith. If we can learn to clearly discern His voice speaking within us, we will be much more confident...One of the greatest benefits of using a journal during your communion with the Lord is that it allows you to receive freely the spontaneous flow of ideas that come to your mind, in faith believing that they are from Jesus, without short-circuiting them by subjecting them to rational and sensory doubt. You can write in faith believing they are from the Lord, knowing that you will be able to test them later.⁶

During my battle with cancer, I dialogued with God in my journal. Today I treasure those prophetic words. Once, when questioning the Lord concerning my healing, I wrote what I felt was God speaking back to me:⁷

Does not My Word say you are healed? Hath not My prophets proclaimed that you would live? Arise and take My healing message to the world. Fear not, for I am with you. Do not be afraid, for I am your God. Do not look at those who have died, but look at My word that says you shall live and not die. Listen to My prophets. Concentrate on healing on the radio and in your speaking engagements. Walk close to Me, and I will show you signs and wonders and miracles. Relax and watch Me work. I want you to be a vessel of honor. Be available.

Even today when I read these words, I am touched by the Holy Spirit.

WATCH FOR DEMONIC FEAR WHEN JOURNALING ABOUT DYING

There are precautions to take in journaling when one is sick. If people begin to journal about dying, they need to look to God to see if this may be coming from a spirit of fear that has gripped them. When people battling sickness get quiet and ask God about healing, they will only get that which is biblical, for it is the will of God to bring health to His people.

THOSE WHO ARE NOT HEALED

The question is often asked, “Why do some people receive a word that they are healed and then they die?” Much thought has gone into this extremely difficult issue during the writing of this book. I have come to the conclusion that there are other factors that must be considered. The prophet may indeed have been right on, but the same circumstances exist that are there when the prayer of faith is prayed for a sick person. All sick people still must war themselves. They still must get the Word solidly into their spirits and war with it. It is a mystery, but healing is an individual matter. Others can pray, preach, or even prophesy, but the sick people must also war.

There are some who do not receive their healing because they begin listening to negative people, in spite of what the Word and the prophets have said. Some just decide they want to go on to Heaven. For some, I can offer no explanation. But the Word of God is still true. Healing is still God’s provision for His people. Jesus Christ is still the same yesterday, today, and forever.

WAR WITH THE WORDS OF MATURE PROPHETS AND HEAR GOD FOR YOURSELF

We have seen that people can war with the prophetic words of the seasoned prophets, and can also war with their own prophetic words that they get in their quiet time with the Lord and in their journaling. Words of prophecy can be powerful and extremely helpful to those who are warring for their healing.

WARFARE HEALING PRINCIPLES

- Personal prophecy is one of the major missiles with which we war.
- Personal prophecy does not reveal whether God is able or willing to heal. That has already been revealed by the logos, the written Word of God.
- Take the prophetic words of the mature, proven prophets and war with them.
- A prophetic Word can be reversed at times.
- People can hear the voice of God for themselves.
- Journaling helps people hear the voice of God more clearly.

PART THREE

VICTORIES IN BATTLE

Chapter Six

VICTORIES IN BATTLE

FOR SEVERAL YEARS, God had been leading me to teach healing on my radio program. I had started a healing school in our local church in Troy, Michigan, every Thursday morning, and people were being healed and being helped. Furthermore, prophetic words had been coming that I would have a powerful healing ministry.

Barbara Yoder, my close friend from Ann Arbor, had prophesied on February 5, 1990:

I thank You, Lord, that Your gifts and callings are coming to the surface. You are putting a new word in her mouth. The word will burn like fire in her bones, a word of freedom, deliverance, and healing. She will stand before the people and the fire of God will come upon her. The people will see her change from one person to another as the mantle drops upon her.

On April 5, 1990, Scott Webster had prophesied:

Daughter of Mine, I have called you to be the prophetess of the Lord and you are going to rise and prophesy. You have been around a valley of dry bones. You have said, "Can these bones live," but daughter of Mine, begin to prophesy to that valley. I am going to cause miracles to take place. Deep calls unto deep...A double portion is going to be loosed on you. I want you to march back like Elisha and smite that river and walk through on dry ground. Daughter of Mine, religious folks will say, "Where did you come from? How do you know you have Elijah's mantle?" I will send signs and wonders to convince the gainsayers....

God had been moving by His Spirit. Then it was as if all hell assailed me. Even though I knew a lump was there, I wasn't afraid because cancer did not run in my family. Also, I had been told that the lump was a muscle and there was nothing to fear. The gynecologist had checked me carefully in May, just one month before. It was now June 22. The mammogram a year ago had been negative. However, there was that extra heaviness that was in my heart and mind. I recalled the gynecologist saying in May, "I find no lumps, but a woman your age should have a yearly mammogram anyway."

A week later, I had not heard from the doctor, so I called his office. The secretary snapped, "If there were a problem, Mrs. Scarborough, the doctor would have called you. He is a busy man." I insisted that she check my file, but she could not find my report. In just a few minutes, the doctor called me back and said, "Nothing to your report. It says, 'slight thickening in left breast. X-ray again in six months.' There is no calcification, and it looks good to me. However, if you would feel better, you can go to a surgeon friend of mine in Pontiac for a second opinion. I usually do not send my patients for a second opinion with a report like this, but if you were my wife, I might consider sending you. Do what you wish." I decided to have a second opinion and called immediately for an appointment.

It was July 5, 1990. I taught my healing school that morning until noon. Then my husband and I rushed to the doctor's office in Pontiac. The doctor looked at my mammogram and said, "There is no problem whatsoever." Then he checked the breast. I watched a puzzled look on his face as he said, "Don't get your hopes built up about a thing in this world. You have cancer."

Out of my spirit rose the words, "I will not have cancer!"

"I hope you are right," he replied. Then he did a needle biopsy and sent it along with me to the hospital.

Later, after arriving back at our church office, I immediately called the doctor to get the report from the needle biopsy. "Yes, it's cancer all right," he told me over the phone. I handed the phone to my husband and rushed off to talk to the Lord. The doctor shared with my husband my alternatives and said that we should come in on Saturday to discuss which way we would go. He spoke of a mastectomy or the possibility of a lumpectomy, in which only the cancerous area is removed as well as the auxiliary lymph nodes. This would then be followed by radiation treatments.

It was difficult for me to pray, and I desperately wanted Troy and Cheryl, our dear evangelist friends, to pray with me. I did not have their new phone number so I called the state office of our denomination. Norma Rayburn, who had previously had breast cancer, answered the phone. "Peggy, what is the matter?" she asked. "You sound upset." I wept, "Norma, the doctor just told me I have breast cancer." She said, "I would go to Ann Arbor if I had it to do again."

Ann Arbor? My friend Barbara Yoder who had taught female care to medical doctors at the University of Michigan Medical School was now pastoring in that city. I called Barbara and told her my situation. She suggested, "Come over tonight and let me examine it. I still have association with the doctors I previously worked with. They can help us get you in to see a good breast surgeon." That night my husband took me to the Yoders' home. Barbara examined the lump, which was as large as a hen egg. Immediately she got me an appointment with Doctor Courtland Schmidt in Ann Arbor. Barbara later shared her feelings in a meeting concerning my condition at the time:

I have had years and years of experience in the medical profession and had examined thousands of women's breasts, but I had only found one tumor in all my life that was bigger than the one Peggy had. I expected the report to come back positive even though I did not tell her at that time. But the truth of the matter was that God had begun to speak to Peggy through his prophets last April. My comfort was that if God told her what His will was for her, He has no intention of her dying. So we stood on that. God already knew and was saying, "Fight a good warfare with the prophecies that have gone before you," like Paul said to Timothy. When I examined that tumor I knew it would be a miracle of God if cancer was not already in the lymph nodes. I knew there had to be if things happen as they usually happen. There was no cancer in her lymph nodes. That was a miracle of God. God sealed that tumor off because the devil was trying to destroy her, but God had a plan and a purpose for her life.

Even though my friend was hurting with me, Barbara felt that she had the Word of the Lord that I was healed. But she was hesitant to be dogmatic about it since I was her friend. She went with my husband and me to talk with the doctor in Ann Arbor. When she was with me going through so many tests and knowing that this well-known breast specialist thought it was cancer, she said, "Peggy, just walk it through." It was comforting to have one with so much medical knowledge as well as spiritual knowledge walking by my side as I went from office to office for blood work, ultrasounds, reports on the size of the lump, and so forth.

My surgeon explained to me that the recent research by the American Cancer Institute indicated that the results of the lumpectomy procedure are as promising for survival as mastectomy. Breast cancer can't be prevented, but early detection is crucial. However, it looked as though this lump was not detected early. It appeared to have been there at least a year and maybe longer. I had been careful to have mammograms yearly. For some reason the enemy had kept this hidden. The mammogram a year earlier had shown nothing.

The fear was overwhelming. Cancer has three spirits: infirmity, fear, and bondage. This battle was the biggest spiritual battle I had ever fought. Here I was teaching that healing is in the atonement and this happens. I would be sitting with my family for a meal and fear would overwhelm me. The only panacea I had was to run to the Word. Anytime conversation would turn to the ordinary, I had to excuse myself and get alone with the Word of God. Then healing Scriptures leaped into my heart.

My daughter had a friend who was visiting us when this whole ordeal began. The day she had to return to Tennessee, we wanted to take her as a family into Canada. Before we left, I wrote out healing Scriptures and pinned them on my dress. We took Christie for a walk along the river separating the United States and Canada, and while my husband was entertaining the girls, I walked a distance away from them to pray. To the girls it was funny to see those Scriptures pinned on my dress. But it was meaningful to me. My daughter Sherri still has the Scriptures in her memory book as a memorial of that time.

In the midst of my spiritual struggle, there were all the visits to the doctor's office that had to be made. Early one morning I received a call from the hospital receptionist saying I had to come to the hospital in about two hours to discuss the radiation treatments I was to have after surgery with the head of the radiation department. This was all so frightening. The thought of my driving up to the Rose Cancer Center was overwhelming. It was a fight realizing that Peggy Scarborough, who believed and taught divine healing, was actually going into a cancer center. "A cancer center? What kind of victory is the devil winning?" I asked.

The radiologist was wonderful and reassuring. "Maybe your prayers are working and you won't have to see me," she said. June and Zack, dear friends who went with me to the cancer center, were in the hall claiming the Word for me. June almost shouted when she found Matthew 15:13, which became my rhema throughout the rest of the ordeal: "...Every plant which My heavenly father hath not planted shall be rooted up."

Marion Spellman and her husband Harold, founder and directors of a busy drug-rehabilitation ministry called Peniel, cancelled all their appointments to come so they could be there with me and personally pray with me before the surgery. Nineteen other intercessors met me at the hospital in Ann Arbor at 6:00 A.M. on July 16. Some of these intercessors had driven more than 50 miles and had left very early so they could arrive at the hospital before I did that morning. My family and I, along with the Spellmans, had spent the night in Ann Arbor, so my very close friend Sharon Strong arranged for them all to be there before I arrived. What a comfort to have 19 people meet me at 6:00 A.M., not just to show concern, but to intercede until I was safe.

My friend Marion helped me write the Scripture references that had become rhema to me on the palm of my hand before going into surgery. The anesthesiologist asked me what those Scriptures said. I quoted Matthew 15:13: “...Every plant which My heavenly father hath not planted shall be rooted up.” To my amazement, he pulled out a New Testament which he was carrying in his pocket. What a blessing just before going into surgery.

When the doctor sent word back to my husband that the lump was malignant, the intercessors prayed the harder. While they were praying in the hospital chapel, the Word of the Lord came to June Pokley, saying, “I have not taken My presence from this situation; I will never leave nor forsake Peggy. Remain steadfast in the faith and behold the name of the Lord.”

The doctor had assured me that he would not take the breast, but only the lump and surrounding tissue. Of course the lymph glands had to come out. Upon awakening, I was extremely thankful that the breast did not have to be removed.

Fear like I had never known before overtook me at times. I played Norvel Hayes’ tapes titled “How to Live and Not Die” around the clock. When the tape would be over, I would awaken intuitively and start it over again. This saved my emotions. The powerful teaching of the Word of God pushed back the satanic terrors by night.

After surgery my emotions were very sensitive. Even the lady who dropped ice cubes in my cup made an indelible impression on me. The spirit of every person who walked into my room affected me greatly. Everyone walks in his own spiritual atmosphere and affects other people—especially those fighting such battles.

Cancer also affects family members. My daughter, who was getting ready to go back to college for her junior year, went home immediately after my surgery to battle through her emotions. She had always been my best friend. What now for her? Writing about it helped her. She grabbed a large sheet of paper and made a large sign that went across one entire wall: “God has it all under control.” What a comfort those words became to me as well as to her. As long as we lived in that home, that sign remained on her bedroom wall.

The morning I was discharged from the hospital, I shared my feelings and fears with my friends, Herman and Doreen Smith. They lovingly advised, “Peg, keep on teaching healing.” Then the doctor came in and said, “I can’t give you any hope until we get the reports back. Your lymph glands looked clear to me, but I miss it as many times as I get it accurately.” He continued, “The thing I am concerned about with you is the large size of the lump. The one thing we know about cancer is that it spreads and your tumor was very large.” That report was most depressing.

Then the trip from Ann Arbor to my home was a long and hard one with my emotions so confused. I could not even share my deepest feelings with my husband. There were insurance problems. What if the present insurance company dropped our group in Michigan? Would we ever be able to live in any state other than Michigan because of my now “pre-existing condition.” All of this added more fear.

Arriving home, my only comfort was my tapes. I found it difficult to pray so I just lived with the Word on tape. I read healing Scriptures. I quoted them to myself, to God, to the devil, and to friends.

Three days later I returned to the doctor's office. Good news! The cancer had not spread to the lymph glands even though the lump was considered a stage two cancer due to its huge size. It was as though God had sealed off the tumor.

The biggest battle I had at this time was fighting off the evil reports that were constantly reaching me. One woman told a friend of mine, "With a lump that size, she may live two years." But then God would send the Word of the Lord to me. Carol Catalano, now living in Tulsa, called me. She remembered that approximately a year previously my husband had preached the funeral of her sister who had died from breast cancer. And of all things, her name was also Peggy. Carol said, "Peggy, what happened to my sister has nothing to do with you or the Word of God. Stand on the Word."

I refused to go to bed. I felt that to do so would be a victory for the enemy. Less than two weeks after surgery I was back teaching my healing class in the church on Thursdays. It was great strength to me to be able to proclaim to the people not to look at their symptoms, but to look at God.

Then I had to start radiation treatments, which is standard procedure for anyone who has had a lumpectomy. Even though I had read all the literature and knew what to expect, I was frightened that first day. My body actually trembled when the doctor and her assistants diagrammed me for the region that would be treated. They marked the radiation path with purple pencils that could wash off. I was told not to bathe the breast area until after the treatments were under way and they could tattoo the area. The big machines were terrifying.

The daily battle began when the radiation treatments actually began. It was a depressing thing to walk down a long cold undecorated hall to get to the treatment room. Then I had to put on an ugly grey gown to get ready for the treatment. I still remember feeling like a leper. Once in the waiting room, I would notice all the extremely sick people. The enemy whispered, "See, that is what is going to happen to you. It's just a matter of time." Once again I learned that I dare not go into that waiting room without the Word of God. While I waited, I began bathing my mind with what God had said about sickness and healing. The thing that kept me going through the treatments was the same thing that kept me going through the surgery—not letting the Word depart from my eyes or ears.

During the time I was receiving these radiation treatments, I found a package of literature in the mail that had been sent to my family. I opened it quickly, hoping for a word from the Lord. There were several small booklets. I turned to the first page of one. It was an article on how a family should react when the mother of the family gets breast cancer and dies. Another booklet was on the family's reaction to the mother's death. But the negative mail was not all I received. I received encouraging letters from people I did not know with prophetic words that I was healed.

Through many other similar incidents, I realized that God was fighting my battle. My daughter was back in college, and during the radiation treatments she sent me a plant with a large note, saying, "God has it all under control." These became our fighting words.

The numerous prophetic encounters discussed earlier were such a wonderful blessing, especially in fighting off my fear of the cancer reappearing. I waged war with the prophetic words. I reminded God of what the prophets had said again and again. Also the words of Nahum 1:9, "...Affliction shall not rise up the second time," became a source of tremendous strength to me. At the time of this writing, three and a half years away from the cancer, I do many of the same things I did while warring for my healing. My compassion for those with cancer is greater than it has ever been. During the time of crisis, I made a decision that cancer would have a new enemy. I asked God to let me be a cancer specialist in the spiritual sense. I developed an especially strong desire to help those whom the doctors say are incurable.

FAMILY MIRACLES

Before David slew Goliath, he had already killed a bear and a lion. Perhaps one of the reasons he was able to deal with Goliath was because he had already seen what God could do through him and for him when he was keeping his father's sheep. I had seen God miraculously come on the scene before for both me and for my family. It was easier to trust God for the big miracle because He had already proven Himself to be the Healer in our home.

MIRACLE OF CHILDBIRTH

When I was pregnant with our daughter, Sherri, I was an extremely busy teacher at Lee College. Never had I felt better. I taught English and Speech right up until three days before she was born. I had given final examinations, graded all papers, and turned in the grades for all the students.

Sherri was born on a Monday. But on the Sunday afternoon before, my husband and I had decided to relax and do some reading in our front yard. Forgetting that I was nine months pregnant, I sat down too quickly on the lawn recliner.

The following morning I woke up to find that my water had broken. I called the doctor, who told me to come in at 10 A.M. to see him. When I arrived, I expected to be told to return in a few weeks. However, when the doctor checked me, he said, "We are weeks away from labor." I said, "Does that mean that I go home and come back in a few weeks.” He answered, “No, that means you have to go directly to the hospital. Do not go home for your personal things. Someone can bring them to you.” He then handed me a slip of paper that read, “Admit immediately. X-ray. Hold two pints of blood.” I had ruptured some membranes when I sat down on the lawn recliner and did not know it.

The nurse called for my husband to see the doctor. He said, “I know you have questions, but I do not have any answers. We are just going to have a baby today one way or the other.”

When I arrived at the hospital, they began trying to force labor, but it would not begin. It was a terrible day. My blood pressure had become extremely high. Toxemia had set in. I became deathly sick.

That evening around 6 P.M., the nurses checked me and found no sign of dilation. Then Pastor T.L. Lowery came into the hospital on his usual round of visitations. He walked into the room with my husband and prayed, “Oh, God, we need a miracle now.” Immediately the miracle came. Three doctors walked in at 6:05 P.M., five minutes after the nurse had said there was no sign of dilation. They came together because they had to make a decision what to do because of the seriousness of my condition. They asked my husband and Pastor Lowery to leave. They checked me and one of them said, “My word, the dilation is three-fourths complete. Take her to the delivery room.” We had our miracle.

They then said to my husband, “Go for a long walk. If we are able to have a natural childbirth, it will not be until 1 A.M. at the earliest.” By 8 P.M. our daughter had arrived safely. They immediately began testing her, expecting to find brain damage because of my toxemia. However, they found a perfect baby. The doctors later told me that whenever the mother is as serious as I was, they usually lose either the mother or the child. If the child lived, she was usually born brain damaged.

During that crisis time, I made a real commitment to God concerning our baby. Though we had already given her to the Lord, this was a special commitment—giving us both to the Lord. Often today my daughter testifies, “I did not have a choice but to serve God because of the serious commitment my mother made at this time when we both were hanging between life and death.”

HUSBAND HEALED OF BELLS PALSY

Three months after our daughter was born, we moved to Fresno, California, where my husband and I both served on the staff of a West Coast Bible College. The move was a stressful one from Tennessee to California with a new-born baby. We were living in an apartment in the girls' dormitory because I was serving as dean of women and they needed me to be on campus at that particular time. Also, my husband was teaching five new classes with five different preparations and serving as outreach director for the school.

Having such a busy schedule, he did not notice that he was having a health problem. One afternoon he came into our apartment and said, “My left eye is not blinking.” We then remembered that he was not able to play his trumpet in a street meeting the previous Saturday evening for some strange reason. I insisted that he go to the emergency room at the hospital. When they checked him out, they diagnosed his case as Bells Palsy. They told him that it could leave his face paralyzed or drawn. But the students on that campus went to prayer and in 11 days the condition was completely gone. The healing was complete.

Chapter Seven

REVIEWING THE BATTLE PLAN

WE HAVE REVIEWED the predicament of sick people. Many people are devastated by the onslaught of sickness and disease. When serious illness does strike, often people must deal with all of their unfulfilled plans, ministries, relationships, and financial problems. Life suddenly comes to a screeching halt.

THE ENEMY IS SATAN

The first thing that must be settled is who the enemy is. Tradition has taught us that it is God who wills that we be sick in order to teach us something. But satan is the author of sickness. Christ always uses the same harsh word, epitimaō, to rebuke sickness (satan's work) as He uses to rebuke evil spirits. Furthermore, Acts 10:38 states that Jesus "went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the devil." T.J. McCrossan tells us that the Greek word for oppressed is katadunasteuomenous, the present participle passive, accusative plural of katadunasteuo.

This comes from kata, meaning down or under, and dunasteuo, meaning to hold power or lordship. The way this word is used in Acts 10:38 indicates that Jesus healed those who were under the domination or lordship of satan.¹ Every sickness, disease, and infirmity comes from satan.

Satan is the propagater of sickness. There are special evil spirits whose chief business is to make people sick. Luke 13:11 tells about a woman who had a spirit of infirmity for 18 years and was bowed together and could not lift herself up. McCrossan tells us that the word for infirmity is astheneia, the most common word in the Greek language for sickness.² There are also deaf and dumb spirits (see Mark 9:25). Satan has all kinds of evil spirits, and thousands of these belong to that group designated as the spirits of sickness. Likewise, along with many sicknesses come many other spirits. Cancer, for instance, has three spirits: infirmity, fear, and bondage. There is no wonder that Paul said in Ephesians 6:12:

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.

The devil has declared war, and sickness is one of his finest weapons.

WE MUST KNOW THAT IT IS GOD'S WILL TO HEAL

Before the solution can begin, sick people must know that it is God's will to heal; otherwise, there are no grounds for a battle with satan. Every Christian has a covenant with God that includes divine health. Yet the Holy Spirit through the prophet

Hosea said, “My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge...” (Hos. 4:6). Too often satan has won the war. Christians have allowed sickness to send them to an early grave. They have allowed sickness and disease to destroy their bodies, while the Bible is full of Scriptures telling us that we can be healed. They have been destroyed because of ignorance. Still, preachers are teaching that it may not be the will of God to heal everybody. Too many people think they are helping when they speak the faith-destroying words, “God, if it be Your will, will You heal?” This does not help sick people. It destroys them. God’s Word is clear about His will. But it must get into the hearts of sick people, as well as anyone who is warring for them or with them.

It is obvious from Scripture that healing and salvation go hand in hand. One of the many examples is in Matthew 9:22, where Jesus said to the woman with the issue of blood, “Daughter...thy faith hath made thee whole.” McCrossan tells us:

This expression, “thy faith hath made thee whole,” reads in the Greek “Hé pistis sou sesóken se,” and literally reads, “The faith of thee has saved thee.” The verb sesóken is the perfect tense, 3rd person singular of sózó, I save.³

McCrossan also examines Luke 7:50, where Christ said to the sinful woman who had anointed His feet with oil and wiped them with the hairs of her head, “Thy faith hath saved thee....” McCrossan says:

This reads in the Greek “Hé pistis sou sesóken se,” and literally reads, “the faith of thee has saved thee.” These are the exact same words Christ spoke when He healed the woman with the issue of blood.⁴

The same faith which saves the soul heals the body.

WARFARE IS THE ANSWER

Since the devil has declared war on us and one of his finest weapons is sickness, the Church must learn to do battle with him. The truth of the matter is, we do not have to die prematurely. But we do have to learn to war. Spiritual warfare is never easy, but that is why it is called "warfare." We already have the power. Jesus has stripped satan of all his power. He has delegated His power to us, even before He went back to the Father to be seated at His right hand. He is still doing His work today through warring saints. God has a battle plan, and the Holy Spirit will be the warrior's companion.

THE WARRIOR'S LIFESTYLE BECOMES A WEAPON

The lifestyle of a warrior can become a powerful spiritual weapon. Therefore, the lifestyles of some may have to change. Getting well must become a top priority. The will to live must be strong. Warriors must know their authority in Christ. They must gain deliverance from feelings of shame and condemnation and must know that God loves them and is not chastening them. They may have to continually remind themselves that God does not have any favorites, but heals all who turn to Him. Seeing themselves well will bring a much speedier recovery. Goal-setting is essential. Staying away from negative people is a must. Warriors must speak only what God says, then stop. Fear has to be dealt with. Proper biblical nutrition will strengthen them. Speaking in tongues will build up the faith of sick people. The joy of the Lord will contribute to the healing process.

Warriors' lives will never again be the same. What the devil meant for destruction will become the thing that will make them into health specialists. If the devil sent cancer to one of God's choice servants, that warrior can become a cancer specialist in praying for and ministering to those who have cancer. If the devil sent a heart attack, that person can become a heart specialist for others with heart disease. If the devil sent sugar diabetes, the warrior can become a specialist in praying for people with sugar diabetes. The warrior who is willing to go through this training will be ready to take territory back from the devil.

WARRING WITH THE POWERFUL WARHEADS

The powerful warheads that will defeat the devil and sickness are the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus. With these weapons available, the Christian does not have to live in sickness.

God's Word dwelling in you is a powerful weapon in the world. His Word is supernatural and alive. Warriors must hear the Word and hear it again. They must read it and read it, over and over. They must meditate upon it. They must memorize it. Norvel Hayes says, "It does not take a lot of Scriptures to bring healing. It just takes one."⁵ Warring people must find it and make it theirs. They must quote it. They must do spiritual warfare with it. They must not place it on a shelf and admire it. They must write it. They must act on it. They must give the Word first place in their lives.

People who desire to be healed should plan their schedules around the Word instead of trying to make the Word fit into their schedules. They must make the Word of God the final authority in their lives and believe its report rather than the doctor's.

The name of Jesus is ours to use. His name carries authority in three worlds: Heaven, earth, and hell. At His name, demons have to bow. Sickness has to bow. Jesus stripped the devil of his power when He was raised from the dead. He then gave this power to His Church to use on earth. It is up to us to enforce this authority in our lives with the name of Jesus.

The blood of Jesus is a powerful weapon for healing. The blood that flowed from the back of Jesus after the scourging has power to heal any sickness. This is why Peter, along with Isaiah, says that by His stripes we were healed. It is a weapon to be used to bring healing to God's children. Rod Parsley, who is an outstanding pastor, sums it up for us:

If through the filter of the old blood covenant the Lord was able to declare, "I am the God that healeth thee," then here on the backside of Calvary, through the immunized blood of His Son, how much better for us is God's healing Word?⁶

Because of the blood that dripped from the stripes and bruises of Jesus Christ, no disease is incurable.

WARRING WITH POWERFUL MISSILES THAT CARRY THE WARHEADS

The warheads—the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus—are powerful weapons to destroy disease and sickness. But they are carried by powerful missiles. Missiles in themselves would be ineffective without the warheads. But together, they destroy all strongholds.

The missile of praise and worship destroys demonic oppression and brings the Presence of God, which in turn brings healing. God inhabits the praises of His people. When believers get sick, the first and most important thing for them to do is worship God. Many people are healed simply through worshipping. Worship is ministering to God. Those who are sick should worship both alone and corporately. As people worship alone, they can thank God that no disease can stay in their bodies. Corporate worship prepares the very atmosphere for the miraculous healing power of God. Praise stills the enemy.

People can praise God simply by saying hallelujah. They can praise with upraised hand. They can simply bless the Lord. They can make music with musical instruments. They can give the loud shabach shout. They can sing in the Spirit. They can praise God by thanking Him for things that are not yet happening. They should use the Word of God, the name of Jesus, and the blood of Jesus, in all their praise and worship. They should sing the Word, making up their own tunes to Scriptures. They should sing the name of Jesus and sing about the blood. It really works!

Warriors can launch the powerful warheads through prayer. They can pray the Word; pray in the name of Jesus; pray by declaring the blood of Jesus; pray with authority. People needing healing can pray and be healed in the same way in which they were saved. Furthermore, they can pray for others, expecting them to be healed. In places in Africa, many miracles are taking place through prayer. Benson Idahosa is one who regularly sees the miraculous take place when he prays. When the large crowds gather for his meetings, many come to be healed. Idahosa does not look for the people with minor cases of sickness. He goes after the cases that are humanly impossible. He ministers to those in wheelchairs, and those whom most evangelists are afraid to touch for fear of being embarrassed because they are not healed. He has even had the dead raised on several occasions.⁷ Miracles can happen in our ministries when we pray, because God is still in the miraculous healing business.

The missile of confession builds up faith and brings healing. Faith-filled words put us over. Words can be a powerful force for the person desiring to get well. Jesus is the High Priest of our confession. He does what He hears us saying. Warriors must speak the Word of God, which will become a creative power that will work for them.

The missile of resistance is like dynamite. Resistance is something that sick people will have to learn. They must treat disease like a devil and drive it from their bodies. Norvel Hayes shocks people when he says, "I am going to teach you how to stop cancer." People respond, "You mean, how God stops cancer." He replies, "No, how you and I stop it in Jesus' name."⁸ Norvel teaches: "When a disease tries to rest in your body, resist the disease and say, 'No, disease, I take authority over you, in Jesus' name, come out of me!'" He continues:

Here's how I do it. I say, "In Jesus' name, no you don't. I won't accept this pain. I bind you, Satan, in Jesus' name. Go from me." Then I lay my hand on myself and continue, "In Jesus' name, no. I won't accept this. I break your power, Satan, and I command you to take your hands off. My body belongs to God. In Jesus' name, pain stop. In Jesus' name, get out of me. I claim the healing power of God. No, you don't; not to me you don't. You can't, Satan. I know you want to, but you can't. When I say you can't, you can't."⁹

When asked how long he does this, Norvel replies, "Until the affliction leaves." Once you start resisting, the pain may get worse. That's a sign that the devil is shaken and is trying to attack in a stronger manner. Continue the resisting. Norvel says:

If my pain is worse, I do the same thing I did the first day. Never change, never waver, never get nervous...Do this every day...Your confession must get stronger every day, not weaker...If the devil sees one speck of weakness coming on you, you've had it...He will dog your tracks right into the hospital. He'll dog your tracks into the grave if he can. The devil doesn't intend to stop or give up.¹⁰

The missile of binding and loosing is mighty. Binding puts chains on the enemy. It takes the key out of the door. Warring sick people should bind satan. Bind all of his angelic ranks. Bind his demon spirits of sickness. Bind them in Jesus' name. Then they should loose health. Loose the ministering angels. Loose the protecting angels. Loose the warring angels. Loose the Holy Spirit's power through yielding to Him.

The missile that breaks generational curses is seldom used; yet, too often the same ugly problems and diseases circulate through families from generation to generation. These curses can be broken. Marilyn Hickey declares in the March 1993 Charisma magazine:

To break the curses of past generations—their habits, sins and physical weaknesses—we have to bind the strong man who has carried that curse from generation to generation. By exercising the authority that Christ has given us, we take “the house”—or in this case, generation—away from him.¹¹

If heart disease runs in your family, you can break it over your life and for future generations. You do not have to accept the philosophy that just because your relatives died of a disease, you have to be plagued by that same disease.

The testimony missile always wins! When people share their personal testimonies of healing, others are blessed. While I was working on this book, I began to pray along with several others for a lady named Karen with cancer of the bladder. The doctors were preparing her for the worst. The day that Karen went in to get ready for surgery, she found a wonderful surprise. The tumors they thought were cancerous were no longer there. The testimony of this lady is already inspiring the faith of others. It is powerful!

WARRING WITH THE PROPHETIC WORD

Another great missile with which we war is the prophetic word. Sick people can war with the words of mature, seasoned prophets. However, prophecy is not the final deciding factor. The Word of God has already declared healing for God's children. Even if people receive negative prophecies, they can turn their faces to the wall as Hezekiah did and receive their healing. Warriors must get the Word of God into their own spirits, and then begin to hear what "Thus saith the Lord" for themselves. Journaling is one of the ways in which this can be done. Once they get their inner-selves quiet, they will be able to hear the voice of God speaking to them. They do not have to take the words of another.

There are many who have received prophetic words that they would be healed; yet they died. Prophecy alone will not bring the healing. The person must war with the other weapons. If people do not take the Word of God for themselves, they cannot expect the prophetic words to come to pass. But if they stand on the Word of God, they can then war also with their prophetic words.

THE WAR IS FIXED

Getting healed through warfare is worth the fight. The fight is fixed. God's Word has already declared our healing. For those in need of healing, I pray this book will be a valuable weapon in your hands.

IN THE RIGHT HANDS, THIS BOOK WILL CHANGE LIVES!

Most of the people who need this message will not be looking for this book. To change their lives, you need to put a copy of this book in their hands.

But others (seeds) fell into good ground, and brought forth fruit, some a hundred-fold, some sixty-fold, some thirty-fold (Matthew 13:8).

Our ministry is constantly seeking methods to find the good ground, the people who need this anointed message to change their lives. Will you help us reach these people?

Remember this—a farmer who plants only a few seeds will get a small crop. But the one who plants generously will get a generous crop (2 Corinthians 9:6).

EXTEND THIS MINISTRY BY SOWING
3 BOOKS, 5 BOOKS, 10 BOOKS, OR MORE TODAY, AND BECOME A LIFE CHANGER!
